SLEUTHS of Central Crime Branch (CCB) arrested five terror suspects from a residential complex on Sultanpalya Main Road near Mukarram Masjid at RT Nagar in the city on Tuesday. These suspects were allegedly radicalised at Parappana Agrahara Central Prison by a Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) operative to carry out terror attacks in Bengaluru.

Seven country-made pistols, 45 rounds of ammunition, walkie-talkie sets, a dagger and 12 mobile phones have been recovered from them.

The arrested are Syed Suhel Khan (24), a resident of 2nd Cross, Sultanpalya Main Road; Mohammed Umar (29) of Kodigehalli; Jahid Tabrez (25) of Bhadrappa Layout; Syed Mudassir Pasha (28) of Dinnur Main Road; and Mohammed Faisal (30) of Pulakeshinagar.

They were arrested from the residence of Syed Suhel Khan. The other two terror suspects have been identified as T Nazeer alias Ummer Haji, accused No 1 who is at Parappana Agrahara Central Prison, and Junaid Ahmed (29), accused No 2, a resident of Kanakanagar in RT Nagar, who is said to be hiding in one of the Gulf countries.

The arrested were reportedly radicalised by T Nazeer, a Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) operative, one of the accused in serial blasts in Bengaluru on July 25, 2008, that left one dead and 20 injured. P7

TEESTA GRANTED REGULAR BAIL BY SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

CIVIL rights activist Teesta Setalvad was on Wednesday granted regular bail by the Supreme Court in a case of fabricating evidence to implicate high dignitaries in the 2002 Gujarat riots. The court quashed a Gujarat High Court order to arrest her, saying it was 'totally perverse' and contradictory.

A bench comprising justices B R Gavai, A S Bopanna and Dipankar Datta said Teesta's custodial interrogation was unnecessary since the chargesheet had already been filed and the documentary evidence forming the basis of the case was already available. It directed her not to attempt to influence or intimidate witnesses.

The bench criticised the high court's order, saying that on one hand it contended that considering evidence to determine a prima facie case was unnecessary, while on the other hand, it claimed that the accused's failure to challenge the FIR or chargesheet under specific sections meant she couldn't contest the prima facie case. Elsewhere in the verdict, the high court judge goes on to discuss the statements of some witnesses and finds that a prima facie case is made out against Teesta.

The bench said the considerations to grant bail included whether or not there is a prima facie case; possibility of tampering evidence or influencing witnesses; fleeing; and the gravity of the offence.

"If the observations made are to be accepted, then no bail at the pre-trial stage can be granted unless the accused files an application for quashing of the proceedings against him under section 428 CrPC or Article 226 before the high court or Article 32 before this court. To say the least, these finding are totally perverse," the bench said in the order.

The FIR against Teesta was lodged following an SC verdict on June 24, 2022 in the case of Zakia Jafri, who has alleged a larger conspiracy behind the 2002 communal riots.

Uproar in House over role of babus in INDIA meet, 10 BJP MLAs suspended

BJP MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal collapses during a protest against the state government in Bengaluru on Wednesday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE legislative Assembly witnessed ugly scenes on Wednesday as 10 BJP MLAs were suspended for creating a ruckus over state government deputing IAS officers to receive politicians from other states on their arrival in Bengaluru to take part in the opposition parties' conclave.

While the issue rocked both Houses, the suspended MLAs were bundled out of the Assembly by marshals as BJP and JDS MLAs protested after the speaker's order.

MLAs CN Ashwath Narayan, Sunil Kumar, R Ashoka, Araga Jnanendra, Vedavyas Kamath, Yashpal Suvarna, Dheeraj Muniraj, Umanath Kotian, Aravind Bellad and Bharath Shetty were suspended for tearing the copies of Bills and throwing them at the speaker's chair. The 10 MLAs have been barred from attending the session which ends on Friday.

Following this, BJP and JDS MLAs sought the Assembly secretary's permission to move a motion for removal of the speaker. Former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai, Basanagouda Patil Yatnal, Munirathna and other senior BJP MLAs, who staged a protest in the House, were also forcibly sent out.

As they continued their protest at the lobby, JDS Legislature Party leader and former CM HD Kumaraswamy joined them. In the meantime, Yatnal felt uneasy and collapsed. He was immediately rushed to hospital. CONTINUED ON: P6

Ready to discuss Manipur in House: Centre

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE government on Wednesday said it was ready to discuss the Manipur situation in Parliament, but called the Opposition's demand for a statement by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on the issue an excuse to disrupt proceedings.

Briefing the media after an all-party meeting called by the government on the eve of Parliamnet's monsoon session, Parliamentary Affairs Minister Pralhad Joshi said the government is willing to discuss the Manipur situation as and when the Lok Sabha Speaker and Rajya Sabha Chairman decide its date and time.

The meeting, attended by 34 parties, was chaired by Defence Minister Rajnath Singh. "The government has 31 legislative items. All parties wanted a discussion on Manipur and the government is ready for it."

Other issues that came up included the misuse of law enforcement agencies, attacks on the federal structure through Governors and railway safety.

Leader of Congress in Lok Sabha Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury said his party's main demand was a debate on Manipur. "Violence broke out two months ago and the PM is yet to speak on it. He should at least make a statement in Parliament and allow us to hold a debate," he said.

Manipur also figured at the Business Advisory Committee meet. MPs part of INDIAN, the Opposition alliance, will meet on Thursday to chalk out their strategies for the session.

Home buyers to complete project in limbo

K-RERA court gives its nod as the builder ran out of funds, owners to mobilise money through sale of 10 apartments

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Real Estate Regulatory Authority (K-RERA) court has authorised home buyers to take over the role of actual promoters of a 65-apartment residential project on Sarjapur Road. It also gave them the green signal to use the sum they would mobilise through the sale of 10 apartments they are building within the premises.

A full bench, comprising Chairman HC Kishore Chandra and Neelamani N Raju and Gurijala Ravindranadha Reddy on Monday (July 17) gave its verdict in favour of the Vivansaa Aurigaa Apartment Owners Cooperative Society Limited. The home buyers had filed a case against the original promoter, Vijicon Properties, and 21 others including private and public sector banks after their project was abandoned by the builder.

The 65-apartment residential project on Sarjapur Road will be taken over by home buyers after it was abandoned by the builder | EXPRESS

The firm, Pradeep Kumar PK & Associates, represented the home buyers in the case. Advocate Pradeep Kumar told TNIE, "As per the agreement entered into with the buyers on June 30, 2016, the project was supposed to be delivered by July 2017. Barring the initial 10 per cent to be paid for the project, the buyers had to pay the EMI only after the houses were handed over. Each 2 BHK house cost over Rs 40 lakh at that time."

The promoter ran out of funds and the project remained abandoned from March 2020 till December 2022. "Only 50% of the project had been completed. The banks had offered funding under the subvention scheme whereby the loans taken by buyers were credited directly to the builder. They had used it all up to pay the pre-EMI period of the buyers and had no funds to complete the project," the advocate explained.

The real problem erupted when the banks started hounding the buyers asking them to pay up the loans. "Many were NRIs. Orders to attach their properties in Delhi, Gurgaon and so on were issued. We had to approach K-RERA for protection. It has really come to the rescue of buyers," he said.

As advised by RERA, a cooperative society was formed with 30 of the home buyers who had paid their money fully or who were paying their EMIs on time. "Each of them pooled in over Rs 9 lakh and the sanction plan was modified by approaching the civic authorities concerned. The sale of the ten flats getting completed would give them enough funds to complete the project," the advocate said.

Experts question BBMP's proposed drone survey of strays

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has joined hands with a startup, which is being incubated by the Artificial Intelligence and Robotics Technology Park of Indian Institute of Science (ARTPARK, IISc), to undertake a enumeration exercise of stray dogs in the city.

Though the exercise is just a pilot and is being undertaken free of cost, it has drawn the attention of many. Experts said this shows the extent of corruption that can take place in a government agency.

"Most of the times, the staff are seen just carrying files. They move around and take salaries. Even as the BBMP's animal husbandry department has said it will press 100 members to cover eight zones and conduct a field survey, the corporation officials are still going ahead with drone survey on a pilot basis. Only time will tell if the drone survey was of any use," said an urban activist.

An infrastructure expert flayed the BBMP, stating that strays will hide inside drains or in under-construction sites. There is no clarity on how the drone cameras will be able get these details. "A field study will also give information about ferocious dogs, recent stray dog attacks and other information from the public, but drones cannot give all these details," said the expert.

Strays will hide inside drains or in under-construction sites. There is no clarity on how the drone cameras will be able get these details

— Infrastructure expert

Urban expert Ashwin Mahesh said had the BBMP done ward committee meetings, these problems would not have arisen. "The public will directly interact with officials and tell where the problems are. Secondly, a governance deficit cannot be fixed with technology. The authorities should focus on ground work instead," he said.

The Palike had taken up a survey of stray dogs from July 11. In the first phase, Hulimavu, Sarakki, Seegehalli and Ele Mallappa Shetty lakes were selected as proof of concept.

Drones have been successful in capturing images of dogs and using artificial intelligence to identify stray dogs, said Dr Bhaskar Rajkumar, director, Healthcare Initiative, ARTPARK, IISc.

KSRTC bus speeds on wrong side of E-Way, netizens seek action

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WHILE the number of accidents on the Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway has been increasing and the project is being criticised as 'unscientific', a video of a Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation bus speeding on the wrong side of the e-way near Kaniminike toll plaza at Bidadi invited the wrath of netizens. They have demanded action against the errant driver.

A video of the bus, bearing the registration number KA 10 F 0492, zooming on the wrong lane was uploaded on microblogging site Twitter by a user, Abhishek. He tagged Additional Director General of Police (Traffic and Road Safety) Alok Kumar, Bangalore Traffic Police, DGP Karnataka and KSRTC, and posted: "Are government vehicles allowed to break rules and then let people blame the expressway for accidents?"

The video was shot near Bidadi on July 14 around 10.40 am. This is not the first incident of a KSRTC buses plying on the wrong lane. In March, a KSRTC bus caused a death on the expressway while plying on the wrong lane. Following this, the bus corporation issued a circular directing all of its staff to follow traffic rules without fail or face action.

The recent violation just indicates that KSRTC bus drivers do not care for any of the orders and are risking the lives of the passengers on board and also pose a threat to other road users.

Ramanagara district police said they have instructed the police inspector of Bidadi to take appropriate action in this regard.

'Drop Kannada' row: Min seeks action on parents

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KANNADA and Culture Minister Shivaraj Tangadagi has sought strict action against those advocating against teaching of Kannada in schools.

Recently, several WhatsApp messages were doing the rounds of parents discussing approaching the education department to seek dropping of Kannada from Class 8 onwards.

Following this, the minister wrote to the School Education and Literacy Minister Madhu Bangarappa.

"A prestigious English-medium school in Bengaluru has initiated a process to move away from teaching Kannada as a second language in its Class 8. People of any state and language have a constitutional right to live in our state. However, it is necessary for them to at least have a basic understanding of the language of the land they live in," he said and demanded strict action against schools and parents for seeking removal of Kannada.

"There should be no relaxation or exemption in the rules for teaching Kannada as a second language. I request them to take the fact that such schools are preparing to put pressure on the Education Department, and take legal action very seriously against the school," the minister said.

PETER VIDAL

20TH July : The wonders of space never cease to amaze me. Here's another fascinating fact: the atoms which comprise our world are so small and so far apart that planet Earth is 99 percent empty space. And so are we. In fact, a teaspoon of atoms with all the empty space taken out would weigh no more than all the people alive on the planet today, forgetting all the oceans and continents!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You want to do your best. There are strong hints from some of your planets that you may be getting more deeply involved in a charitable venture. The relevant psychological impetus is rooted in a need to feel that you are doing your bit to serve humanity.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
There's a lightness in the air today which has been lacking over the last few days. You'll find it easier to put serious long-term issues to one side and link up with people who are out to enjoy life. You might be surprised by the strength of a partner's passions, though.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Your current behaviour is strongly driven by your beliefs, and there are now indications that you could be a little too rigid. It is one thing to have high principles but another to be obstinate when circumstances call for compromise. A little flexibility goes a long way!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Obviously you need to strike while the iron is hot, but whether that time is now is questionable. True, this is a suitable moment, but everything you do will be affected by changing circumstances in the future. That's obvious, I know, but easy to forget.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Family members, or people you live with, seem to be playing an inhibiting role, perhaps cramping your style. However, should you feel unduly hemmed in by their habits and demands, think again. You may have unconsciously manoeuvred yourself into the current situation.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The Moon's challenge to your sign is gently romantic, but it also makes it easier for you to play the passive partner. It could be relaxing to let others go out and take the lead. That way you can share the pleasure if plans work out, but avoid the blame if they don't!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Challenging planetary aspects caution you not to be reckless or extravagant. Fortunately, there are other indications that you will be in a sympathetic, tolerant and cautious mood, so you're bound to do the sensible thing. Above all, let loved ones know that you really do care about them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
This is often a very powerful time of year for you, but your long-term cycles have shifted slightly. If your intuitions are functioning well, next week could bring considerable change, so your current actions are therefore incredibly important.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You will no doubt enjoy spending time at home, so hopefully circumstances will permit! If all is in a state of upheaval, or if you absolutely must go to work, you should try to create a cosy and domesticated atmosphere wherever you go. And avoid risks: safety first, as they say.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Financial pressures seem to be closely connected to social commitments. It may be that you have made promises which it will be difficult to fulfil, in which case you may now be able to make a dignified exit. If you can't escape from your commitments, then perhaps you can get some help!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
It is high time that you stopped allowing other people to take you for granted. You must recognize, though, that if you have allowed yourself to be undervalued in the past, some of the responsibility lies with you. Not all of it, I have to say, but some of it!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The Moon is extending its passionate role in your chart, sensitising your emotions and bringing out those elements of your character which make you such an easy touch. You will eventually find it almost impossible to turn down romantic appeals.

TRANSFORMING UTTAR PRADESH INTO

UTTAM PRADESH

Ayushman Uttar Pradesh

Emerging as a healthcare model

State has 65 operational medical colleges, 22 more to come up soon

THE YOGI Adityanath led government has given great importance to Health infrastructure and healthcare. The infrastructure that grew as slowly as possible under preceding governments, started experiencing rapid changes in last six years. Healthcare sector that had been in doldrums due to depleting numbers of doctors and supporting staff was brought back on track, and today the state's health infrastructure has emerged as a model.

The Yogi Adityanath government has not only worked to improve the condition of government hospitals, but also arranged telemedicine services and installed health ATMs to ensure the availability of proper healthcare services.

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath's vision of providing qualitative and affordable healthcare services to the people was complemented by the central government schemes to enhance and upgrade infrastructure and services. State government's enthusiastic participation in the PM Ayushman Bharat scheme also pushed forward the transformation. However, this process of transformation shifted to top gear when the state government took the challenges posed by the Covid-19 pandemic head-on.

In the course of upgrading health services in all parts of the state, the Yogi government adopted the One District One Medical College policy. Medical education opportunities within the state rapidly increased under the new regime. Now quality health services are being provided to people from 65 medical colleges in the state. Apart from it, the construction of 22 medical colleges is progressing on a war footing. During the same period, two AIIMS were set up in the state – one in Gorakhpur and the other in Raebareli. This ensures that the people of the state do not have to go to other states for treatment of serious diseases. The government has also established Atal Bihari Vajpayee Medical University, in Lucknow. The establishment of all these medical colleges have resulted in an increased number of MBBS seats in government and private medical colleges in the state. In the past six years, 1,838 MBBS seats got increased in government medical colleges while 2150 seats were increased in private medical colleges. Overall 1,747 seats have been increased at PG level. The government has also increased 7,000 seats in nursing courses and 2,000 seats in paramedical courses. The government started nursing and paramedical courses in 300 institutions under the Mission Niramaya. 35 defunct ANM training centres have been also restarted.

Five joint hospitals of 100-bed capacity, nine Community Health Centers and 14 Primary Health Centers have been constructed in the past six years.

PM interacting with the beneficiaries of Ayushman Bharat Scheme, in Varanasi, Uttar Pradesh on July 07, 2023

Under the leadership of PM Modi, India is receiving a new identity and respect. The Prime Minister started the journey of development and heritage from Kashi, Uttar Pradesh, in 2014, and now he keeps adding new chapters to this.

Over the past nine years, the Prime Minister has worked to give the country a new identity and his visits now are occasions to celebrate the success of all these years. India has written a brand-new success story on every front, and, under the leadership of the Prime Minister, the way the world views India and Uttar Pradesh has changed.

Yogi Adityanath, Chief Minister, Uttar Pradesh

Increase of 3,988 MBBS seats and 1,747 PG seats in government and private medical colleges

Increase of 7,000 seats in Nursing and 2,000 seats in Paramedical

Despite its emphasis on the allopathic system of medicines, the Yogi Adityanath government gave due importance to AYUSH medical disciplines. As many as 552 Government Ayurvedic Hospitals have been developed as Health Wellness Centers. Apart from this, 60-bed hospitals have been established in 11 districts of the state.

The Yogi government also augmented ambulance services in the state. At present, more than 250 Advance Life Support ambulances are operating across the state. These are in addition to 2,270 ambulances under the National Ambulance Service and 2,200 ambulances under the 108 services. These services have ensured patients' earliest possible arrival at the nearest hospital in emergencies.

In the budget for FY 2023-24, a provision of Rs. 1,547 crore has been made for the PM Ayushman Bharat Health Infrastructure Mission. Another Rs. 12,631 crore has been ear-marked for the National Health Mission while a provision of Rs. 400 crore has been made for the PM Ayushman Bharat Yojana and Rs. 250 crore for Mukhyamantri Jan Aarogya Yojana which covers those left out in PM Ayushman Bharat Jan Arogya Yojana. It may be recalled that more than 8.9 crore beneficiaries in the state are covered under these two public health insurance schemes. These beneficiaries are covered for free medical services up to Rs. 5 lakh.

Recently, launching distribution of Ayushman Bharat cards to 1.6 crore people, the Prime Minister Narendra Modi interacted with the beneficiaries of Ayushmana Bharat scheme in Varanasi and praised the upgraded health infrastructure in Uttar Pradesh. The PM pointed out that the scheme was not limited to just free treatment worth Rs. 5 lakh. "It impacts multiple generations as medical expenses can push generations into penury and debt. Ayushman Yojana is protecting poor people from this fate," he added.

PM Ayushman Bharat Health Infrastructure Mission is also a medium of 'aatmnirbharta'. It is a part of the effort to achieve holistic healthcare, which means healthcare that is affordable and accessible to all. The aim is to strengthen the critical healthcare network from village to block to the district to the regional and national level. The necessary infrastructure will be developed for the diagnosis and monitoring of diseases.

-Narendra Modi, Prime Minister

UP to become a medical device manufacturing hub

IN THE course of making Uttar Pradesh the state with the best medical facilities, the Yogi Adityanath government has also taken big strides toward making it a 'manufacturing hub' of medical devices. With this purpose, a Medical Device Park is being developed on 350 acres in Gautam Buddha Nagar district. The park will not only facilitate medical device manufacturing units but also create employment opportunities on a large scale.

So far, a total of 59 plots have been allotted to companies manufacturing medical devices and equipment. These companies will be investing more than Rs. 415 crore to set up their factories. The list of medical devices that will be manufactured at the park is quite extensive and diverse, ranging from Orthopedic Implants, Oxygen Concentrators, Anaesthesia Needles & Kit, Anaesthesia Work Station, Spinal Implant, X- Ray Machine, Endoscopic, Gastrology Medical Devices, Biliary Stent, ICU Ventilator, ECG Machine and Trauma Management Implant to Coronary Stent, Hemodialysis Kit, CVC Kit, AVF Needle, Heart-Lung Bypass Kit, Cancer Care Equipment, Video Colposcopic Machine, Chemotherapy Device, Radiology Device, Nuclear Imaging Device, Intraocular Lens, Ophthalmic Medical Device, Portable Mobile Lab, and Hematology Analyzer etc.

This will bring about significant changes in the healthcare sector of Uttar Pradesh and contribute to the overall growth of the state.

Incentives to the manufacturer in medical device park

- Capital Interest Subsidy
- SGST Reimbursement
- Air Cargo Handling charge and Freight incentive
- EPF Reimbursement
- Incentivising employment generation
- Zero Waste Incentive
- Skill Development Incentive
- Patent Filing
- Quality Certification
- Stamp Duty
- Marketing assistance
- Utility Charges

Empowering rural Uttar Pradesh with quality healthcare

OVER THE last few years, health infrastructure and services have improved across Uttar Pradesh, yet the Yogi Adityanath government has been laying emphasis on improving health services in the rural parts of the state.

Working towards improving health infrastructure in remote upcountry parts, the state government has focused on increasing the number of community and primary health centers. In the recent past, the government has issued directives for early establishment of 29 new Community Health Centers (CHCs). These new CHCs will take their total number to 937 across the state. Also, a total of 3691 primary health centers are currently operating in the state. These are in addition to 174 district-level hospitals.

New CHCs, PHCs, sub-centers, and Health & Wellness centers will also be operational in rural areas, with the budget released under the National Health Mission (NHM). As planned in the budget, sub-centres have to be opened for a population of 5000, PHCs for more than 10,000 population, and CHCs for above that for improvement in health facilities in rural areas. At the same time, budgetary provisions have also been made to open a 100-bed hospital to handle serious cases.

Special attention to JE/AES affected areas

Special attention is given to the regions affected by Japanese Encephalitis / Acute Encephalitis Syndrome (JE/AES) which had been killing a large number of children year after year. Special campaigns and improved medical infrastructure and alertness have succeeded in curbing the dreaded disease in areas including Gorakhpur, Basti, Devi Patan, Bareilly, Moradabad and Saharanpur divisions. Under this campaign, 16 Pediatric Intensive Care Units (PICU), 15 Mini-PICU, and 177 Encephalitis Treatment Centers have been established in the affected areas for effective treatment of children. Recently, a special campaign for Japanese Encephalitis vaccination was started in Lucknow.

Improving healthcare systems

The government has also ensured that ambulance services are easily available in rural areas. Number of ambulances has been increased and the response time of the ambulance services has been brought down to less than 10 minutes.

Mass appointments in rural area

Along with increasing and upgrading medical infrastructure in the rural parts of the state, the government has been equally conscious of availability of health workers in rural areas. In order to fulfill this requirement, the UP Subordinate Services Selection Commission has recently selected 7182 ANMs. These health workers will be appointed in Primary Health Centres and sub-centres in rural areas.

Health ATMs for immediate assistance to patients

Technological advancement has ensured that the people of Uttar Pradesh will soon be able to receive immediate health services. The state government's decision to go for installation of Health ATMs is likely to be the game-changer.

The Chief Minister recently inaugurated Health ATMs at seven Community Health Centres in Gorakhpur. These Health ATMs have already been operationalized in many districts of the state since the Chief Minister inaugurated the first public health ATM in September 2022. Notably, Health ATMs conduct tests for more than 30 diseases instantly.

The state government had in December 2022 decided to install Health ATMs at all 4,600 wellness centres in the state. Till then 200 ATMs had been installed and trained health workers stationed to operate and manage them. These health workers had been trained to use these Health ATMs to conduct various tests of patients and provide them with printed reports. These test reports may also be taken on WhatsApp, email or SMS in a very short time.

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath discussing features of health ATM with an expert

These ATMs are also useful in providing telemedicine services to patients. Information on various vital parameters and test reports of a patient are shared with the telemedicine centre or e-sanjivani centre where experts go through the reports and prescribe necessary medicines and suggestions to the patients through their phones. Since these ATMs are very quick in assessing vital parameters, patients suffering from diabetes and heart-related issues may also have them checked up in almost no time. The government is providing the facility free of charge.

The government later signed an MoU in February, at the UP Global Investors' Summit-2023, with India Health Link to install these 4,600 health ATMs at community and primary health centres in the state.

According to experts "The health ATM fits perfectly in filling the gap in primary healthcare infrastructure in India". Expert added that due to scarcity of diagnostic centres, people walk several kilometers and even one-two day to reach district hospitals. Even at primary healthcare centres, many times doctors are not available and there is a lack of devices. This is where such ATMs will bridge the gap.

Referring to the utility of these ATMs an expert hoped that one of these health ATMs would become as commonly available and used as bank ATMs. Nonetheless, these ATMs are already helping to reduce the load of the Outpatient Department (OPD) in hospitals.

It may also be added that the health ATM was launched after conducting trials for two years at Dr Mehta's Hospital in Chennai and a brief period at the Sir Ganga Ram Hospital in New Delhi. Its accuracy rate is as high as 97 percent.

Six new medical colleges to be established under PPP

The state is all set to get six more medical colleges under the PPP model. These colleges will come up in Mahoba, Mainpuri, Bagpat, Hamirpur, Hathras, and Kasganj and investors for these colleges will be selected soon. The Central government will provide Rs. 1,012 crore as financial support under the VGF scheme and the total cost of these new colleges will be Rs. 1,525 crore and each college will get nearly Rs. 160 crore.

Attacked by two men with knife, doc escapes to toilet

One of the accused was frustrated as his mom's health didn't improve

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A 29-year-old doctor working with a private hospital was brutally attacked by two men in the emergency ward on Monday afternoon.

Dr Jamal Husain, working as the emergency medicine doctor at Sonu Hospital on Beguru Main Road in Hongasandra, was attacked with a knife. He had to run inside the ward toilet to save himself from the men, who were reportedly under the influence of alcohol. The incident happened between 1.50pm and 1.55pm on Monday, when the doctor was attending to patients.

He is said to have treated the mother of one of the accused, who was frustrated as there were no signs of improvement in his mother's health.

Dr Husain is undergoing treatment in the same hospital. He filed a complaint at Bommanahalli police station, and both the accused were arrested.

Husain, a resident of Munireddy Layout in Hongasandra, was working with the hospital for the past six months. "The accused entered the ward, asking for the doctor. One of the accused had got his mother, Vanishri, treated in the hospital two days ago. The accused, while showing the prescription copy to Dr Husain, started beating him up. The other accused pulled out a knife and attacked the doctor. To escape, the doctor started running towards the toilet inside the ward. The accused chased him and tried to attack him with the knife, in an attempt to kill him.

In the nick of time, the doctor managed to slip into the toilet and banged the doors, and locked them from inside.

"Hearing the commotion, other staffers came to the rescue of the doctor," said an investigation officer.

When contacted, neither the doctor nor the hospital commented on the incident. "Both the accused were arrested. The accused were under the influence of alcohol. The doctor is undergoing treatment and his statements have been recorded. The accused were remanded in judicial custody," said an officer who is on the investigation team.

A case of attempt to murder (IPC 307), the Karnataka Prohibition of Violence against Medicare Service Personnel and Damage to Property in Medicare Service Institutions Act of 2009 has been registered against both the accused. Bommanahalli police registered a case and are investigating.

FIR against BU contract workers for tampering with answer sheets

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

An FIR was registered against several contract workers at Bangalore University (BU) on allegations that they had filled in answers for students prior to sending them for evaluation.

A complaint was lodged against T Manjunath, a contract worker, as well as several other workers by the Registrar (Evaluation) Dr Srinivas C at Jnanabharati Police Station.

Srinivas, in his complaint, alleged that Manjunath and other workers were tasked with collecting and scanning the answer sheets ahead of evaluation.

The registrar said that 41 answer sheets had been tampered with, and answers were either erased and rewritten, or were written on the blank pages of the answer booklet.

According to sources, Manjunath had been working with the evaluation department since 2019, leading officials to believe the issue may span four years.

Dr Srinivas said that results of 41 students have been withheld, as their papers are expected to be tampered with.

"We believe this may have been done for profit, and they were bribed to change the wrong answers. It is a major corruption allegation and is under investigation," a BU official stated.

Meanwhile, investigations are still going on to apprehend the accused involved in the incident. While others are yet to be identified, Manjunath is absconding, with his last appearance at the university recorded on April 25.

Karnataka High Court wants space for court halls, more judges

BENGALURU: The Karnataka High Court on Wednesday asked the state government to come out with a comprehensive proposal to provide adequate space for the court to house its offices, judges' chambers, court halls, basic amenities and parking for the high court. A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice MGS Kamal passed the order after hearing a PIL filed by Ramesh Naik L, seeking direction to shift offices housed in the basement of the high court building, and provide additional space. "...In view of a rise in filing of cases, increase in the number of judges, there is hardly any scope for this court to house the chambers of judges, court halls, adequate space for utilities... the delay in making appropriate arrangements would make the situation worse. We hope and trust the state government will come out with a proper proposal in three weeks," the court said. The bench observed that chambers of new judges' chambers were provided in congested sections of the existing building. ENS

AE, not JE, feeder cadre for promotion to AEE post, says HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a far-reaching order, the Karnataka High Court said the post of assistant engineer (AE) is a feeder cadre for promotion to the post of assistant executive engineer (AEE) and not the junior engineer (JE).

Holding that the Karnataka Municipal Corporations (Common Recruitment of Officers and Employees) Rules, 2011 providing promotion for filling up 25 per cent of the post of AEE (Civil) from the cadre of JE (Civil) is unconstitutional and contrary to Articles 14 and 16 of the constitution, Justice ES Indiresh said the feeder channel for promotion to the post of AEE (Group-A) is AE (Group-B) alone and not the JE (Group-C), because of different pay scales, cadre and educational qualification.

Allowing a batch of petitions filed by Rangaramu MR and several others, the judge directed the state government to grant promotion to the post of AEE (Group-A) only from the feeder cadre/lower cadre which is from the post of AE (Group-B) and fill up AEE vacancies as per terms of the order within eight weeks from the date of receipt of the order.

"I am of the view that the experience cannot be a sole factor to be considered as a criterion to substitute the educational qualifications as well as pay scale equations, which are distinct. Therefore, the Legislative intent in Rule 2(t) of the Rules, 2011 that, the promotion has to be made only to a higher post or higher grade and the said definition does not say about the educational criterion as the basis for promotional avenues. Therefore, in the event, 25 per cent of the cadre of JEs, who have put in service for not less than five years, are promoted to the post of AEE, bypassing the promotion of AE, the same would curtail/deprive the legal right of such of 25 per cent of the AEs, the frontrunners for promotion," the judge said.

"I am also well aware of the fact that this court is not concerned with practicability or the wisdom of policies of the government, however, those aspects have to be microscopically considered under the realm of Article 14 of the Constitution. That is to say, if such policies are only concerned with illegality, under such circumstances, the court has to exercise its judicial review," he said.

● FOLLOWED PROTOCOL WHILE DEPUTING IAS OFFICERS TO RECEIVE DELEGATES: CM ● BUREAUCRATS WERE MADE TO WORK LIKE CLERKS: BOMMAI

OPPOSITION, GOVT TRADE BARBS OVER SUSPENSION OF MLAs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

OPPOSITION MLAs from BJP and JDS on Wednesday sat in front of the the Speaker's chamber, protesting against the suspension of 10 BJP MLAs, who were staging a dharna in the Assembly over the alleged misuse of IAS officers to receive delegates arriving for the opposition parties' conclave in Bengaluru on Monday and Tuesday.

Former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai said, "This is a murder of democracy and a black day. IAS officers were made to work like clerks. There are protocol officers to pay homage to guests of the state."

He said, "The Speaker's position has been abused. He is a puppet in the hands of the ruling party. When we were protesting, they decided to run the House without allowing our members to go for lunch."

BJP members Vedavyasa Kamath, Bharat Shetty, Arvind Bellad, Umanath Kotian, Dhiraj Muniraj, Yashpal Suvarna, Dr CN Ashwath Narayan, V Sunil Kumar, R Ashoka and Araga Janendra were suspended in the Assembly for their protest.

On the government's allegation that BJP insulted Deputy Speaker Rudrappa Lamani, who is a Dalit, by throwing torn copies of Bills at him, Bommai said, "Congress insulted the deputy speaker. The Speaker has not handled the situation well in the House."

JDS senior leader HD Kumaraswamy, who joined in the BJP protest, said, "The Speaker has deliberately suspended the MLAs." He said, "In 2018, I did not use officials to welcome dignitaries to my swearing-in ceremony as chief minister."

On the suspension of MLAs, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said, "Is it okay if they tear copies of the Bill and throw it at the Speaker's chair"

On Opposition's allegation that Speaker has turned a puppet in the government's hand, he said, "If you don't listen to BJP will you become a puppet? I have been in the Assembly for the last 40 years and have never spoken badly about the Speaker. If you protest, there is no problem. You should not be breaking glass."

On deputing IAS officers, he said, "Chief ministers of other states, former ministers, union ministers and MPs had come to the state. We deputed officers under protocol rules. Kumaraswamy did this on May 21, 2018 when leaders of other parties were invited for his swearing-in. Even JDS functionary Danish Ali, who was not an MP or MLA, had an IAS officer YS Patil as coordinator. Today they claim in the House that they have not done anything wrong."

Issue notices to IAS officers: Bommai

BJP MLAs have decided to meet the governor on Thursday to complain about the "undemocratic action" of the Congress government. It all started when BJP's Ashoka raised the issue of deputing 30 IAS officers to receive leaders of political parties, some of them out on bail, who arrived in the city to attend the conclave.

Law Minister HK Patil defended the government's action stating that it did not violate any protocol and alleged that BJP MLAs were unable to digest the success of the conclave. Irked by this, BJP MLAs entered the well of the House while Sunil Kumar questioned UT Khader whether it was right on his part as the speaker to attend the dinner hosted during the conclave.

CM Siddaramaiah questioned why didn't BJP members protest when Kumaraswamy deputed IAS officers for his swearing-in ceremony as CM in 2018. Kumaraswamy, however, defended it stating that it was a government event unlike Tuesday's political conclave. JDS MLAs too entered the well of the House. Bommai said, "It's unfortunate that IAS officers were deputed to receive leaders of some small parties, who are not even MLAs." Blaming the chief secretary for this, he demanded that notices be issued to the IAS officers, besides deducting their salaries.

As chaos prevailed in the House with BJP and JDS MLAs continuing their protest, Khader said he would not give a lunch break and continued the debate on the budget. As he left the chair and deputy speaker Rudrappa Lamani took over, BJP members accused him of violating rules by continuing the proceedings when the House was not in order. BJP members started tearing the copies of Bills that were kept on the table and threw them at the deputy speaker, who summoned the marshals to send the unruly MLAs out of the House. "Throwing papers at the chair is a painful development," the CM said and alleged that the BJP MLAs were doing it just to please "Keshava Krupa". Bommai termed it a "Black Day" and accused the speaker of acting like a puppet of the government.

Even in Council, BJP members protested prompting adjournment. Floor leader NS Boseraju defended the government's move. As BJP members continued their protest, the House was adjourned.

BJP, JDS MLAs seek permission to move motion against Speaker

UT Khader

BENGALURU: Opposition MLAs from BJP and JDS sought permission to move a motion against Speaker UT Khader for taking a one-sided stand in the House during proceedings. BJP and JDS MLAs, including former CMs Basavaraj Bommai, HD Kumaraswamy, Suresh Kumar, Aravind Bellad, Sunil Kumar, Satish Reddy, R Ashoka, Suresh Kumar CB, Sharada Purya Naik, Munirathna, Harish Poonja, D Vedavyas Kamath, S Raghu and others have written to the Karnataka Assembly Secretary, seeking her permission to move the motion against the Speaker. They stated in the letter, "The Speaker elected by Karnataka Legislative Assembly members has lost the trust of the House. This is why he has to be removed from his chair. Therefore, we request you to allow us to table a motion under Rule 69 and allow us to discuss the issue." BJP sources said the Speaker's post is non-political. But Khader is still acting like a Congressman and taking the side of the ruling party. BJP MLA Sunil Kumar said the Speaker attended a dinner hosted by Congress leaders that was also attended by senior Congress leader Sonia Gandhi and leaders from other parties. ENS

CID to investigate murder of Jain monk

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE State Government has decided to hand over to the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) the investigation into the murder of a Jain monk in Belagavi earlier this month.

Jain monk Kamkumar Nandi Maharaj from Nandi Parvat Ashram in Chikkodi taluk was brutally killed on July 6 and his butchered body was found on July 8. Two people have been arrested so far and financial transactions are suspected to be the reason behind the killing.

There has been a demand for a probe by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) from several quarters, including the Bharatiya Janatat Party and members of the Jain community.

Making a statement in the Legislative Assembly on Wednesday, Chief Minister Siddaramiah said the case is sensitive and there has been a demand for a CID probe.

Recently, Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara had denied handing over the case to the CBI.

BJP members had last week staged a protest over the law and order situation in the state and submitted a memorandum to the Governor.

5 Bills clear Assembly hurdle amid chaos

ENS @ Bengaluru

AMID the protest by the Opposition BJP and JDS MLAs, the Karnataka Assembly on Wednesday passed five Bills without any discussion. The five Bills cleared by the Assembly are: Karnataka Land Revenue (Amendment) Bill, Karnataka Cooperative Societies (Amendment) Bill, Karnataka State Dispute Management Bill, Registration (Karnataka Amendment) Bill, and Karnataka Civil Procedure Court (Amendment) bill.

Explaining the Karnataka Land Revenue (Amendment) Bill, Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil said that cases related to the poor were delayed for various reasons. Therefore, the government has got the amendment to dispose of the cases within a time frame of six months. Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda said that the proposed Karnataka Land Reforms (Amendment) Bill now enables the removal of land conversion if the said land is part of the master plan. Such lands need no conversion, he said. The purpose of this Bill is to remove the hurdles which were causing inconvenience in development works .

On the Registration (Karnataka Amendment) Bill, Byre Gowda said that the purpose of the Bill is to prevent fraudulent registration. Many officials are doing it knowingly and also unknowingly. "The Bill, once passed, will give power to the respective district registration officer to nullify the fraudulent registration," he added.

Registration for Gruha Lakshmi scheme begins

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

THE State Government on Wednesday started the registration process for the Gruha Lakshmi scheme to provide financial assistance of Rs 2,000 to women heads of households.

The scheme will benefit 1.28 crore families and it is the biggest programme in the country with an allocation of Rs 30,000 crore, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said after launching the registration process. Gruha Lakshmi will be implemented from August 16, he said. Women can register at BengaluruOne, GramaOne and, other centres, and also officials appointed by the State Government will visit the houses to help women register.

CM Siddaramaiah and DyCM DK Shivakumar launch the registration process for the Gruha Lakshmi scheme in Bengaluru on Wednesday | EXPRESS

This was the fourth guarantee scheme announced by the Congress in the run-up to the polls. The CM said the 5th guarantee of providing financial assistance of Rs 3,000 to unemployed graduates and Rs 2,000 to diploma holders will also be implemented.

He said Congress is committed to social and economic empowerment of women and providing reservation for women in local bodies. "I support reservation for women in the Assembly and Parliament. Let the BJP government do it, we will fully support it. The Women's Reservation Bill has been pending since 1996. Why are they not doing it," he asked.

He accused BJP of spreading wrong information about guarantee schemes of the Congress government. He said that in the run-up to the May 10 elections, they had announced five guarantees and it was a challenge to implement them. Many had even commented that it was difficult to implement and even Prime Minister Narendra Modi had said the state would go bankrupt if all the five schemes were implemented, he said. "But we have implemented the schemes," he added.

UNION Minister of State for Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare Shobha Karandlaje on Wednesday took exception to the move of the Opposition parties to name their bloc as 'INDIA'.

She told reporters in Udupi that the Emblems and Names (Prevention of Improper Use) Act, 1950, prohibits any parties or groups from naming their parties and organisations after 'INDIA'. It is against the Constitution, she said. "They would have done this out of fear of not winning in the people's court. The British had started the East India Company, but this bloc has started the New East India Company," she mocked. She said that it will not be INDIA vs NDA, but Bharat vs East India Company in the 2024 Lok Sabha polls. Karandlaje further added that those who ruled this nation for more than 60 years and looted, came together as one flock in Bengaluru on July 18.

Launching an attack on the State Government, she said the guarantee schemes are not working well and KSRTC may suffer losses within the next 3-4 months.

HC stays probe into case against Amit Malviya

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday passed an interim order staying all further investigation on the First Information Report registered against Bharatiya Janata Party IT Cell head Amit Malviya for posting a video with a caption in Hindi, "Rahul Gandhi Vidhesi takato ka mohra? (Rahul Gandhi pawn of foreign powers)", on Twitter allegedly targeting the former Congress MP.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order after hearing the petition filed by Malviya, questioning the First Information Report registered by Congress leader Ramesh Babu with the High Ground Police in Bengaluru on June 19, 2023, under Sections 505(2) (promoting hatred between classes), 153(A) (promoting enmity between two groups), 120 (b) read with Section 34 of IPC.

TWEET ON RAHUL

The court said the matter requires consideration.

"If further investigation is permitted to continue, it would run foul of the judgment of the apex court in the case of Patricia Mukhim vs State of Meghalaya which interpreted the purport of the said provisions of the IPC. For all these reasons, further investigation in crime pending before the 8th Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Court, Bengaluru, shall remain stayed," the court added.

Amit Malviya

It was alleged that the petitioner posted a tweet on his personal Twitter account stating that Rahul Gandhi is dangerous and playing an insidious game and the same is derogatory and would bring in enmity between two different groups.

Advocate and Bengaluru South Member of Parliament Tejasvi Surya, appearing for the petitioner, argued that the tweet was against an individual who is said to be the leader of the Indian National Congress and if it is against an individual how it would become an act of creating enmity between two different groups.

An individual is neither a group nor a class for invocation of Section 153-A or 505(2) of the IPC, he said.

The complaint does not divulge how the tweet in question could become the offences under the said provisions of the IPC, he argued.

Two accused involved in Navy espionage ring named; info shared with Pak intel agent

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) on Wednesday filed a chargesheet in a Special NIA Court, Vijayawada, Andhra Pradesh against two accused, including an absconding suspected Pakistani national, in an espionage case relating to the Indian Navy.

The case was registered initially at PS Counter Intelligence Cell, Vijayawada Andhra Pradesh, and was subsequently re-registered by NIA on June 5, 2023. Two persons have been arrested so far in the case.

The two chargesheeters have been identified as Akash Solanki, a resident of Firozabad district in Uttar Pradesh, and Meer Balaj Khan, the absconding Pakistani operative. The duo were allegedly involved in an espionage ring along with other Pakistan Intelligence agents, in which sensitive information pertaining to the Indian Navy was being leaked as part of an anti-India conspiracy, an NIA official said.

Solanki, 21, who was working as an Electrical Artificer Radio Apprentice (EAC) at the Naval Dockyard, Vishakhapatnam, was passing on classified information relating to the Indian Navy warships and submarines. He was sharing the information with a suspected Pakistani intelligence operative, operating under the assumed identity of 'Aditi Chouhan', as well as other unidentified individuals.

NIA investigations further revealed that Akash Solanki had been receiving financial compensation from another suspected Pakistani operative Meer Balaj Khan through crypto channels in exchange for the information. Meer Balaj Khan's credentials obtained from a leading Cryptocurrency Exchange disclosed a Pakistan ID card during investigations.

HAND OVER PROBE TO NIA, SAYS BOMMAI

Former CM Basavaraj Bommai said Bengaluru is becoming a safe haven for terrorists and alleged that the terror suspects arrested by Bengaluru police on Wednesday had links with terror groups in other countries. He urged the state government to hand over the case to NIA as the terror suspects were planning to target Bengaluru. Bommai said the crime rate has increased in the last two months.

The five arrested, along with Junaid Ahmed, had abducted and killed one Noor Ahmed over a suspected business rivalry in RT Nagar police limits in 2017. After spending 18 months in jail as undertrials, the five accused along with Junaid Ahmed were released on bail. They were doing some menial jobs after their release.

Group of 9 thrashes tribal youth, pees on him in Andhra

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Ongole

IN what could be termed an inhuman incident, a group of nine youngsters thrashed a tribal youth and urinated on him in Prakasam district. Though the incident took place a month ago, it came to light after a video of the same went viral on Wednesday.

Police said the victim and the accused had a criminal background. They had differences over some issues. The victim was invited to a party where he was attacked with sticks and rods. Six accused, including three juveniles, have been arrested.

According to police, the victim Mota Naveen and the main accused Mannem Ramanjaneyulu Chowdary were involved in more than 40 cases. Naveen, who belongs to ST community (Yerukula caste), and Ramanjaneyulu went to jail together but later parted ways owing to differences over some issues.

Naveen was arrested on January 3 in an alleged kidnap and rape of a minor girl in Ongole I Town police limits. Even after his release from jail, he used to harass the girl. Abhilash, a close friend of the girl and her brother, had warned Naveen not to harass her. But he did not stop. Abhilash and the brother of the girl approached Ramanjaneyulu for help.

On June 19, Ramanjaneyulu and Abhilash along with their friends Shaik Sadiq Gafoor, Appanboyina Jaya Shankar, Chapala Prabhu, and Ekambaram Narendra alias Tillu and three juveniles assaulted Naveen with sticks and stones.

23% DEFICIT RAINFALL IN K'TAKA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA, which received 27.3cm rainfall from June 1 to July 19, against a normal of 35.35cm, will see a deficit of 23%.

According to the IMD, two districts recorded the highest excess rainfall – Chitradurga and Vijayanagar. However, the highest deficit is reported in Kodagu, followed by Hassan, Ramanagara and Shivamogga and Bagalkote. Bengaluru Rural recorded excess rainfall of 7% and Bengaluru Urban 17% in the same period.

Looking at the deficit rainfall in some regions, the state government and a private agency had approached IMD to undertake cloud seeding. "They sought a report from us. But since we do not participate in it, we referred them to Pune. They wanted to undertake cloud seeding in Hassan and Rannebennur. We were unable to understand why they wanted to take it up in these two areas. However, the issue gradually died down," the official said.

The weathermen admitted that this time last year, most parts of the Cauvery basin, catchment areas and Ghat regions experienced very heavy rainfall and flooding. "Last year, many systems were formed in the seas. Also, onset of monsoon was also early, on May 29. However, this year system formation is less, the gap between showers is high and onset of monsoon was also late," the official said.

As per IMD data, 13 districts received normal rainfall and 16 districts saw deficit rainfall.

STRONG VOTE FOR INDIA'S BUSINESS STRENGTH, BUT WATCH RED FLAGS

US President Joe Biden and French premier Emmanuel Macron laid out the red carpet for Prime Minister Narendra Modi recently, shrugging off human rights concerns. For various reasons, they were betting on a long-term business partnership with India, aimed at boosting their own economies. Biden's and Macron's bet has just found endorsement from one of the world's largest institutional investors, the Capital Group. In its report, the $2.2 trillion asset manager says India stands apart as an investment destination compared to other emerging markets because of the relative political stability, infrastructure development, strong manufacturing potential and growing equity market. Some of the important strengths, the report noted, are the Unified Payments Interface (UPI) which has revolutionised and digitised the payment system, and the infrastructure boom—the rapid growth of airports, roadways and seaports has improved connectivity and reduced travel time.

Another strength missed by many is the country's massive manufacturing base, epitomised by literally millions of MSMEs that have great capacity for growth and innovation. Evidence of India's increasing heft came in from global capability centres of multinationals, who have ramped up their talent search in India this fiscal to offset the recessionary headwinds that have kept hiring muted in the West. As per specialist staffing firm Xpheno, these MNC arms in India covering pharma, retail energy, automotive and telecom, will be hiring as many as half a million heads to fill both attrition vacancies as well as growth plans.

While there is no doubt that India as a destination for global investment is building on strong foundations, the weakness in the superstructure may do us in. Numerous voices at home and abroad have expressed concern at the lack of inclusiveness and growing human conflict. The European Parliament, during the prime minister's recent visit to France, expressed dismay at the continuing civil strife in Manipur, and called upon the government "to protect all religious minorities, such as Manipur's Christian community, and to pre-empt any further escalation". The growing marginalisation of the Muslim community has also drawn flak from various quarters. Global investments move to markets which can assure long-term stability. Strife of any kind is anathema to business. At a low intensity, local disturbances don't seriously impact business; but beyond a point, if political stability is rocked, it will come back to bite the country's credibility as an investment magnet.

OOMMEN CHANDY, KERALA'S CONG COLOSSUS

It was almost impossible to see former Kerala Chief Minister Oommen Chandy alone. A teeming crowd always surrounded him. He never closed his doors on anyone, not even when he was the CM. It was as if he drew his energy from the people. One would never see him losing his cool, even on long hectic days. Two-time CM and the longest-serving legislator of the Kerala Assembly, his six-decade-long political career is also the story of the state's political history

Chandy entered politics as a student leader in the 1960s, and since then, there has been no looking back. He was CM from 2004 to 2006 and from 2011 to 2016, and he also served as Leader of the Opposition from 2006 to 2011. While his first stint saw him initiating several infrastructure projects, scandals marred his second term, affecting him personally and politically. A tactical politician to the hilt, Chandy never opted for confrontational politics, but always knew how to achieve what he wanted. He was a rare combination of gentleman politics layered with Machiavellian traits. He was equally good at winning the trust of allies, especially the Muslim League, the Congress' crucial partner in the state. The clout wielded by 'OC'—as he was popularly known in political circles—was such that it often forced even the powerful Congress high command to bend before him. His Machiavellian side came to the fore when he unseated the all-powerful 'Leader' K Karunakaran by putting A K Antony at the forefront. Chandy was also one of the most development-oriented CMs. The SmartCity-Kochi (IT Park at Kakkanad), Vizhinjam International Seaport, and Kannur Airport are other showpiece projects initiated during his regime. His 'public adalats' were phenomenal in solving people's problems.

The love for the departed leader was evident when people thronged on both sides of the road to bid him farewell on his last journey from the capital to his hometown Puthuppally in Kottayam district. For him, politics was an opportunity to help the poor and needy—that was his guiding philosophy in whatever he did. He was humane to the core. That shone through in his personal and political actions, endearing him to the masses. Now that he is no more, the crowd is feeling lonely. He will be missed badly.

QUICK TAKE

AI IN PRACTICE

The government launches a free online AI course for young engineers to gain AI skills. It's a good initiative that allows access to new technology. Accredited to IIT-Madras and NCVET, the course's credibility is assured. Even TCS and Wipro plan to train their staff similarly. But the challenge is using them to transform the nature of work because the costs of implementing the still nascent AI are phenomenal. The Centre should, like the big companies have done, draft a long-term plan with adequate investment for a regulated, time-bound introduction of AI to make government work more efficient, faster and cost-effective.

IMF-PAK TUG OF WAR AND THE CHANGING GEOPOLITICAL ARENA

For over a year, a rapid depletion of its foreign exchange reserves, skyrocketing prices and political instability have defined Pakistan's politico-economic situation, pushing it to the brink of default and an economic meltdown. Pakistan's tug of war with the IMF finally ended, with the latter announcing a nine-month stand-by agreement worth $1.2 bn for immediate disbursement. Pakistan's foreign reserves are currently at its lowest level, barely enough to cover a month's imports. One US dollar is now worth 286 Pakistani rupees.

Senior IMF officials had publicly aired their concerns about Pakistan's economic policy choices and unstable political situation. The IMF rejected the budget presented earlier this month. Pakistan has had to bend to IMF's prescriptions to access the last tranche of $1.1 billion but was unable to meet its conditions fully. It was compelled to release a revised budget and hike taxes, energy prices and interest rates to fall in line with the IMF's prescriptions. The budget revision followed PM Shehbaz Sharif's meeting with IMF Managing Director Kristalina Georgieva and negotiations between the IMF and Pakistani officials. Austerity measures implemented in line with the revised budget include raising taxes by $750 million to reduce the spiralling fiscal deficit. Pakistan's Central Bank has also raised its benchmark interest rates by 100 basis points to a whopping 22%.

In the last six decades, Pakistan has approached the IMF 22 times—a remarkable record. While it has been forced to seek funds from the IMF, it has a long history of not following the economic measures it accepts as part of the IMF's aid. This has resulted in scepticism within multilateral financial institutions. Frequent borrowings have added up over the last few decades, resulting in a humongous government debt. The ever-increasing defence budget greases the corruption in the military. Overall, the Pakistani State's financial management has reduced confidence in its ability to handle its economy prudently.

Pakistan's traditional benefactors—China, Saudi Arabia and UAE—have not rushed in to help this time. Fresh IMF funding will help Pakistan avert a full-blown economic meltdown, but this will be temporary. Long-term economic problems will require fundamental policy changes because underlying structural faults remain in place.

Desperate Pakistanis are fleeing the country. A tragedy in the Mediterranean recently took place when a boat—ferrying illegal migrants from Egypt to Greece—capsized and took the lives of over 200 Pakistanis. Even the wealthy are running away—and they include qualified and skilled people—abandoning Pakistan for better prospects abroad. Pakistan's political and economic elite, steeped in corruption, are largely insensitive to public welfare.

The Pakistani establishment is unable to implement urgent reforms because of political risks. The most urgent and politically risky reform is cutting down the defence budget, a prescription laid down by the IMF. While 50% of Pakistan's budget goes into debt servicing, 26% goes to defence. Defence-related expenditure is estimated to be around $11.5 billion. The current budget has raised defence expenditure by around 16%.

Pakistan's army is a State within a State and controls crucial political and economic decisions. The civilian government simply cannot bypass the military for fear of being overthrown. It is unlikely that the army will agree to any major cuts in its budget. The defence forces have several expensive vanity projects which lubricate corruption in the higher echelons of the army. The military has gotten used to having its way and sponging off public money. It exploits the bogey of security threats from India to ensure that it gobbles up a huge slice of the national economic pie.

Pakistan's army brooks no challenge. Former PM Imran Khan's plight is an apt example. Propped up by the army and publicly known as a "selected PM", he was overthrown by political intrigue organised by the army—because of his growing popularity, interference in army appointments and essentially, for growing too big for his boots. Imran now faces the imminent danger of being incarcerated for various charges brought against him, all engineered by the army. He may even be debarred from politics for life and exiled. In the worst-case scenario, he could be eliminated by judicial execution, a fate that befell former PM Zulfiqar Ali Bhutto, grandfather of the current foreign minister Bilawal Bhutto Zardari. Nawaz Sharif was also hounded out by the army when he showed signs of going against its policies, particularly vis-à-vis the ties with India. The army wants to ensure Imran's elimination from politics before the forthcoming election in October.

Imran's supporters recently severely dented the image of the army when they attacked army establishments after he was arrested. The military is going through an unprecedented purge of its senior generals and others for their inability to prevent the attacks and vandalisation of establishments by Imran's supporters. The military is using the draconian Army Act to prosecute a large number of demonstrators. Pakistan's military is also divided, and these purges are indicative of fissures within the army.

Earlier, while the US was still militarily present in Afghanistan, it needed Pakistan for its operations there, and so, was generally supportive of Pakistan when it came to the latter's access to IMF funding. Pakistan's leverage has been weakened by the American withdrawal from Afghanistan and growing India-US ties. And although Pakistan has tried to appease the US by selling ammunition to Ukraine, present geopolitical factors are no longer tolerant of Pakistan's traditional policy of indulging in cross-border terrorism while also playing victim to terrorist attacks.

Saner voices in Pakistan are calling for putting the domestic situation in order and normalising ties with India. This is easier said than done. Stable and normal ties with India are not in the interest of the army, which will lose its primacy in the country's polity. Its role as China's proxy to contain India will also be undermined. Many Pakistani businesspersons want trade ties to be renewed. India is in no hurry to normalise ties with Pakistan unless there is an irrevocable end to cross-border terrorism.

ECONOMIC RECOVERY ASIDE, YOUTH UNEMPLOYMENT ON A RISE

SANTOSH MEHROTRA

Visiting professor of Economics, Centre for Development Studies, University of Bath, UK

India's demographic dividend runs out before 2040 when we are set to become an aging society. The dividend is defined as the period in the life of a nation when the share of the working age population (15–64 years) is rising in the total population and the share of the dependent population is falling. In India, this period began in the early 1980s. It is a period that comes but once in the life of a nation; once it is over, it will never come back.

It is called a dividend because if more Indians join the working age and find productive work—especially in the industry or services sectors—it will raise their incomes beyond what they might have received had they been in agriculture. This is because productivity is higher in manufacturing, construction, and services (and hence contributes to a higher GDP growth rate).

The youth (15–29 years), are getting better educated. But because non-farm jobs are not growing rapidly enough (down from 7.5 mn per year over 2004–12 to 2.9 mn over 2013–19), youth unemployment has been rising.

For secondary graduates, unemployment rose from 11 to 16% between 2011–12 to 2019–20; for graduates, 20 to 34%; for post-graduates, 18 to 32%; for formal vocational, 14 to 23%; for technical education below graduate level, 18 to 29%; and for technical graduates, 20 to 38%. This recovered slightly by 2022.

There are two data of significance: first, as the education level rises, so does the unemployment rate. And second, under the current regime, even before Covid, the youth unemployment rate shot up dramatically. Despite an economic recovery, this has not recovered even post-Covid to the 2012 level. Let us examine each issue.

In industrialised countries with higher levels of education, an individual's likelihood of being unemployed is lower. But it is the opposite in developing countries, as those with higher levels of education usually come from better-off households. The poorer you are, you can't afford to remain unemployed. So, those with lower levels of education have lower unemployment. Of course, it also means the quality of such employment is poorer, with lower wages, no social, job or income security.

Contrary to the government's claims about how many jobs it generates, the sharp rise in open unemployment, even before Covid began, should have worried the government. Through a significant increase in education investments and faster GDP growth, the previous government had kept youth unemployment rates at a remarkably low 6% in 2012, despite a global economic crisis just a few years earlier. And post-Covid, the youth unemployment rate has not fallen to the 2012 level, instead remaining very elevated—even though it may have fallen a little bit compared to the peak Covid years. The economy grew at 8% per year on average over 2004–2014, and despite a dip in 2008–09, it recovered quickly because of the balanced monetary and fiscal policy stimuli. What is important is that not only did the repo rate drop to negative territory, but the fiscal stimulus was adequate to enable the economy to bounce back within a couple of quarters after the 2008 crisis.

EXPRESS PHOTO

> In industrialised countries with higher levels of education, an individual's likelihood of being unemployed is lower. But it is the opposite in developing countries

Unfortunately, the Covid lockdown—needlessly sudden, unnecessarily strict, and national in scope when 80% of cases even in July 2020 were in nine international airport cities—caused a contraction of the economy for the first time in half a century. A recklessly tight fiscal policy stimulus addressed it, and the economy contracted 6.6% in FY 2020–21. Youth unemployment soared. Although it improved in 2022, it is still double of what it was ten years ago. Total unemployment (all ages) was 10 mn in 2012 but rose to 30 mn by 2018–19. After that, it further increased to about 38 mn in 2022.

In this situation, the government feels the need to pretend that it is generating government jobs: hence the need to conduct the much-advertised 'job melas' and the PM giving away appointment letters for government jobs (where the appointment has already been notified!). Yet the reality of government jobs is the opposite.

Despite the economy registering the highest levels of unemployment, nearly 10 lakh sanctioned Central government jobs are vacant. Additionally, by 2022, the Union government reduced the number of sanctioned posts to its lowest levels in three years. However, the government announced with fanfare in October 2022 that it would provide 10 lakh government jobs.

According to the Annual Report on Pay & Allowances, for March 2022, the total sanctioned strength of Central government civilian regular employees (ex. Union Territories) was 3.977 mn, as against 4.035 mn in March 2021. At the same time, the number of persons in positions came down to 3.013 mn from 3.056 mn. The number of sanctioned posts is the lowest in three years, and that of persons in civilian jobs is the lowest since 2010.

Almost 92% of the total workforce in the Central government is accounted for by five major ministries—Railways, Defence (Civil), Home Affairs (mainly paramilitary forces), Posts, and Revenue. The vacancies were over 3 lakh posts in Railways, 2.32 lakh in Defence (Civil), 1.2 lakh in Home Affairs, over 1 lakh in Posts, and 74,000 vacancies in Revenue. The vacancies in the Revenue department are particularly egregious, because Asian Development Bank's cross-Asia data shows that India is among the countries that have the lowest number of revenue officials per thousand of the workforce and also total population. If the tax revenue to GDP ratio has not risen over 30 years between 1991 and 2020, despite per capita incomes having risen by over four times, why should we be surprised that the government is unable to provide the basic services a growing population expects and deserves?

Meanwhile, our youth should have a legitimate concern about the future of jobs for a growing share of the young in the working age population, given that India's labour force participation rate is among the lowest in the developing world. And all citizens of India should be equally worried about the so-called demographic dividend becoming a nightmare—despite India having become the world's fifth-largest economy and fastest-growing major economy.

Opposition power

The coming together of the opposition parties in the wake of the next parliamentary elections has sent shudders down the spine of the ruling party. Therefore, the latter is trying to show its bravado. If the opposition parties keep their heads cool and flock together, they will render a body blow to the NDA.

In a democratic setup, strong opposition parties play a pivotal role by constantly scrutinising the working of the ruling party. Though the 26-party alliance is welcome, the abbreviation 'INDIA' is not at all acceptable as it is the name of our country. Instead, let them name it as INDIA Alliance or any such name, keeping India as a prefix only. Just 'INDIA' will definitely create confusion, more so outside the country.

'Manipur needs healing touch before discussing core issues'

Assam CM Himanta Biswa Sarma says UCC will not affect tribal custom and traditions; Naga peace process stuck on flag and Constitution

SHAHID FARIDI & RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR

THE North-East is in turmoil. Continuing ethnic violence in Manipur has caused a huge loss of life and property. Most of the seven states of the region have publicly opposed the Union government's move to implement the Uniform Civil Code, and the Naga peace accord appears nowhere close to conclusion. In an interview to this newspaper, Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma, who is also the head of North-East Democratic Alliance (NEDA), talks about how the UCC would not affect the tribal culture and traditions and that he sees no problem in its implementation in the north-eastern states. He reveals that the Naga peace accord is stuck because of the difference of opinion between the Central government and the Naga organisations over a separate Constitution and flag for Nagaland, and says the situation in Manipur is improving and the state requires a healing touch to bring back complete normalcy. Excerpts:

Manipur is on the boil. Violence in the state is not abating. A deep divide exists between the Meiteis and Kukis. The latter have now demanded a separate state. What do you think of crisis?
There are three communities, which dominate in Manipur -- the Meiteis in the plains and the Nagas and Kukis in the hills. It is unfortunate that there was a prolonged conflict and the Central government had to intervene and deploy the Army and paramilitary forces. However, in the last 20 days, things have improved dramatically.

As you know, Home Minister Amit Shah camped there for three days and Union MoS for Home Affairs Nityanand Rai camped there for a month. I think the situation has improved but we need to create a bridge between the two communities... a lot of healing touch is required. I think, with the passage of time, all that will happen.

At the core of the divide and dispute in Manipur is the Meitei demand for their inclusion in the Schedule Tribe list. How do you plan to handle it?
It is a very complex situation. There are a lot of issues in Manipur. There is this grievance of Meitei and there would be grievance on the other side too. I think you need to accommodate conflicting views when you talk about a solution. As of now we are not talking about the permanent solution of the problem. We are trying to bring peace and stability. And, once peace and stability is established, we have to address the core issues.

What are the core issues?
Let's not go too deep now. Even my single statement can be misinterpreted. You've read too many articles and we know what the issues are. Let me not narrate the issues right now, because the situation is critical. But it is sufficient to say that in the last 20 days, the situation has improved in Manipur.

Do you see any external hand behind the Manipur crisis? The spokesperson for Shiv Sena (Thackeray faction) had recently said that China was behind the Manipur crisis?
I think that it (violence in Manipur) was not intended and nobody had thought that the situation could become like that. I don't think we should discuss the reasons. The inquiry commission is working under the chairmanship of Chief Justice of the Guwahati High Court. As and when peace returns, the commission will be able to unearth the reasons. We want to focus more on healing touches rather than engaging in fault-finding. People who have not visited the North-East should not comment on these issues, because one cannot be an expert only by reading Facebook or Twitter posts. You need a deeper understanding. As I am from the North-East, I am refraining from passing any comment as it may make the situation worse. I am saying the situation is improving and everybody is working for peace and harmony.

Opposition parties are keen to take up the Manipur crisis in Parliament during the Monsoon session and seek answers from the government?
I think they can make it an issue but the only thing is that they should not give any irresponsible statement, which will complicate the issue. They have a right to raise the issues whenever there is any disturbance in any state. I would like to appeal to them not to raise the issue in a manner that could contribute to the deteriorating situation. It should be a healthy debate and you should engage in a restrained manner, because the situation is not fully normal.

The Uniform Civil Code is another issue that is creating fissures in the region. A ruling party in Meghalaya has said it does not want to give a representation on UCC, the Mizoram assembly has passed a resolution against UCC and there are others who have openly opposed it. What's your take on it?
The Constitution mandates that the country should have a UCC. We cannot wait for 100 years to implement that. Having said that, we have to understand that the tribal communities have certain distinct practices and traditions. But these are not religious practices; these are a part of their ethnic life. The UCC is about a common religious code. The diverse ethnic traditions of tribes are a completely different thing. So what the chief ministers of Manipur and Meghalaya are saying has nothing to do with the UCC.

The UCC does not interfere with the ethnic life of our tribes. The simple answer is that UCC is only for bringing harmony in religious practices. So, the ethnic diversity stands in India. We are not trying to bring out a uniform ethnic civil code. We are trying to bring a uniform religious code. We have had good discussions with the people of Nagaland, Mizoram and Meghalaya. I don't think it will be an issue at all. You must be aware that the tribals don't practice polygamy in the North-East. The tribals give more to their girls (daughters) than what is required. And as far as the Khasi and the Jaintia tribes are concerned, they give 100% property to their girls. In Khasi and Jaintia communities, boys get nothing; everything goes to girls. Once they see the draft of the UCC, they will be happy.

There is a lot of talk within your party about carving out a new state from West Bengal. The nomination of Ananta Rai Maharaj to the Rajya Sabha and your engagement with Kamtapur Liberation Organisation chief Jibon Singha, both of whom have been demanding a separate state, has also brought the issue centrestage. What's your take on this?
Jibon Singha was with the Bengal police. He is with us because he wants to start negotiation. He is not under confinement. In fact, most of his colleagues have gone back home. As far as Ananta Maharaj is concerned, he is a religious leader of the Rajbanshi community. He is a resident of Assam but has influence in West Bengal. His nomination to the Rajya Sabha has nothing to do with any demand for a separate state. His nomination has come as recognition of his services. This is also recognition of his community, which has never had representation in power.

You recently said at a FICCI meet that Assam will overtake Punjab in terms of Gross State Domestic Product. Which are the sectors driving growth in Assam?
Twenty years back, Kolkata was the centre for eastern and northeastern India and it was the economic capital. But today, for the northeast region, Guwahati is replacing Kolkata. Now, Guwahati is also getting recognition in the broader south Asia landscape. The people from Bhutan, Nepal and Bangladesh now come to Guwahati. The IT, agriculture and many other sectors are booming in Assam. We have witnessed consistent growth in the last five years. Even during Covid pandemic, our average growth remained good.

Assam is currently at the 17th number insofar as GDP is concerned even as Punjab is ranked at 16th. Last year we had a growth of 19% in GDP. We hope to overtake Punjab at this rate, unless Punjab grows faster and climbs the chart.

> Naga leadership insists they need a separate flag and constitution. The Centre has made it clear after the abrogation of Article 370 that we want one nation, one flag and one constitution
> Himanta Biswa Sarma

You have been closely involved in the Naga peace talks. What are the sticking points, why is there no agreement in spite of years of negotiations?
There is a stumbling block; all other points are ready. The Naga leadership is insisting that they need a separate constitution and a separate flag. The Central government has made it clear after the abrogation of Article 370 that we want one nation and one constitution, one flag. The situation has therefore become irreconcilable. There are discussions going on to resolve these issues and the results will soon be seen. I don't think the Naga leadership will immediately change its position or the Central government will accommodate. It will take a little time, but the best thing is that the government of India and the Naga leadership are talking with each other. There is an agreement that there should be peace and no violation of ceasefire.

Nagaland has huge deposits of oil and natural gas. No Indian state has that kind of reserves. It can compare with many big nations in this aspect. But society is not ready for exploration. Nagaland is waiting to take a decision whether it should go for the solution first or development first.

How do you look at the opposition parties coming together for the 2024 Lok Sabha elections against the BJP-led NDA?
Which are these parties? These are the parties that are already in coalition with the Congress in some states. About a decade ago, parties used to get together to oppose the Congress, because the Congress was a major national party at that point of time. But, today, the BJP has replaced the Congress as a major national party. So the parties are gathering against the BJP.

The Opposition meet is taking place as recognition of the might of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. They know that they cannot take on Narendra Modi alone because he is so powerful and so popular by virtue of his performance and by working for the people's prosperity, nation's growth and peace with the idea of 'sab ka saath, sab ka Vikas'.

Amid INDIA Vs NDA contest, 11 parties with 91 MPs remain neutral

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

IN the last few weeks, 65 parties have joined either the BJP-led or the Congress-led coalition. But it does not capture the entire political landscape of the country. There are 11 political parties that are maintaining a neutral stand and collectively they have 91 MPs.

Their neutrality at a time of heightened political activities is keeping parties, including the BJP and the Congress on tenterhooks.

Sources said three states – Andhra Pradesh, Telangana and Odisha – will play a "deciding role" in shaping the government at the Centre as they send 63 MPs to the Lok Sabha.

The Grand Old Party and 25 other opposition parties have come together under a coalition front named Indian National Developmental Inclusive Alliance (INDIA) to challenge the BJP-led NDA.

A reading of the prevailing political situation says 11 parties, namely YSR Congress Party (YSRCP), Biju Janata Dal (BJD), Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS), Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP), All India Majlis-E-Ittehadul Muslimeen (AIMIM), Telugu Desam Party (TDP), Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD), All-India United Democratic Front (AIUDF), Janata Dal (Secular) (JD(S), Rashtriya Loktantrik Party (RLP) and SAD (Mann) are on neutral stand.

"And if they continued with neutrality, their presence in many states will not allow a cakewalk to the parties lobbied with NDA or INDIA," said a political observer.

YSRCP, which had swept the election in Andhra Pradesh in 2019, and BJD, which has been ruling Odisha since 2000, have largely voted in favour of the BJP-led government in the Parliament. BRS, which is in power in Telangana, has also not taken a side in the two lobbies. Same is with the Mayawati-led BSP, which has nine LS MPs.

Don't drop standards in medical college hirings: IMA

KAVITA BAJELI-DUTT @ New Delhi

THE Indian Medical Association (IMA) has urged the Union Health Ministry to ensure that only medical postgraduates be considered as eligible candidates for appointment in the medical colleges.

It also suggested that faculties with non-medical postgraduation continuing in medical colleges be adjusted within the 15 per cent limit already notified by the National Medical Commission (NMC).

In its letter to Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya, IMA National President Sharad Agarwal and Honorary Secretary Anilkumar Nayak said that the association "firmly believes that where thousands of postgraduate medical teachers are available in the paraclinical field, it is not advisable to compromise with the standard of medical education by allowing non-medical teachers, who have no knowledge of applied medicine and undergraduate curriculum of MBBS to teach them on this subject."

"We appeal to the NMC and ministry to maintain the high standards of medical education to produce best doctors in our country and don't relax the standards set by NMC," the letter dated July 19 said.

"We request you to resist the appeal of non-medical graduates and allow only medical postgraduates as eligible candidates for appointment in the medical colleges to uphold the CBME (competency-based medical education) syllabus with quality. The non-medical postgraduate faculties continuing in medical colleges shall be adjusted within the 15 per cent limit already notified by the NMC," it added.

As per the old regulations of Medical Council of India on teacher eligibility and criteria, non-medical postgraduates in anatomy, physiology, biochemistry, microbiology and pharmacology were appointed as faculties in medical colleges to a maximum of 30 per cent of total faculty strength, as there were not enough medical postgraduates in these departments.

However, due to efforts of the present government, hundreds of medical graduates (MBBS) have qualified for their postgraduate studies in paraclinical subjects such as anatomy, physiology, biochemistry, microbiology and pharmacology. Hence, the NMC has passed an order and notified that only 15 per cent of the faculties shall be non-medical postgraduates in these departments.

> We appeal to the NMC and ministry to maintain the high standards of medical education to produce best doctors in our country and don't relax standards set by NMC
> IMA letter

The letter said that applied medicine is essential in these para-clinical fields, to teach the importance of diagnosing disease, treatment and surgery. "Only MBBS graduates of medicine, after their post-graduation in the concerned subject, can teach the subject with applied medical importance in a comprehensive way," the letter said.

It added that with the revised CBME, it is essential for the students to study these paraclinical subjects with integration into the clinical subjects. This integrative curriculum cannot be taught by non-medical postgraduates, it said.

'EAC flaying global agencies amounts to criticising Indian statistical system'

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE Prime Minister's Economic Advisory Committee's (EAC-PM) recent criticism of international statistical agencies for "using inappropriate indicators" to "systematically underestimate India's socioeconomic progress" comes to bite the country back, since the global agencies use data from India's own National Sample Survey Organisation (NSSO).

This is especially to the country's chagrin at a time when it is poised to assume premier membership in the United Nations Statistics Commission (UNSC), after a gap of two decades. UNSC, which consists of 24 member countries and brings together chief statisticians from around the world, is the highest body of global statistical system.

The EAC-PM, an independent body constituted to advise the Government of India on economic and related issues, had recently gone public with its criticism of the reports of some international statistical agencies on a range of parameters pertaining to India.

The EAC said that indicators used by the international agencies for life expectancy, childhood stunting and female labour participation underplay India's socioeconomic progress and overcast its policy interventions. The EAC had underlined flaws in the agencies' estimates, ranging from conceptual mistakes and inappropriate benchmarks to shoddy methodology.

The council had alternatively suggested the use of 'Make in India' data to better reflect on India's policy interventions on socioeconomic progress.

Experts believe that EAC's criticism of the international agencies amounts to a criticism of the Indian statistical system, as these agencies use data prepared by the NSSO.

"In this context, India's highest advisory body raising questions on the entire statistical system of the country does not augur well," said PC Mohanan, a former member of the NSSO.

"We got there (in the UNSC) after a tough competition. Our image would be dented in the international body," he said.

"On the bright side, remarks from the EAC may lead to the PM taking note of these criticisms and initiating reforms," said Mohanan.

"As is in all these debates, there is some truth on all sides," said TCA Anant, chief statistician of India, "But viewing these debates from a political prism helps nobody and certainly not the statistical system."

Rlys plans special trains for lower income groups

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

IN A first, the Indian Railways is working to introduce dozens of special trains on a permanent basis for people belonging to lower income groups hailing from states such as Bihar, Uttar Pradesh, Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Assam, Haryana and West Bengal.

A decision towards this was taken after a study recorded the highest origination of passengers from lower income groups in these states travelling to the country's various metro cities to eke out a livelihood.

"The new set of trains with the composition of General Sleeper Class-LHB coaches will be introduced between the identified states and various metro cities that are the common destinations for a majority of people from lower income groups. The fare of these trains that are being developed with LHB coaches, will also be economical," said a senior railway official.

Notably, the entire rakes of such trains will be of LHB coaches. The LHB coaches, made with German technology, reduce the possibility of casualties in case of a collision or derailment to almost zero.

The rollout of this new type of special LHB general sleeper class trains is expected in next one or two years for the identified states.

In 8 states

At least 25 special general sleeper class LHB coach trains are likely to be introduced in the next few years between the identified states and various metro cities to ensure fast and safe train services to passengers belonging to lower income groups, according to sources in the Indian Railways.

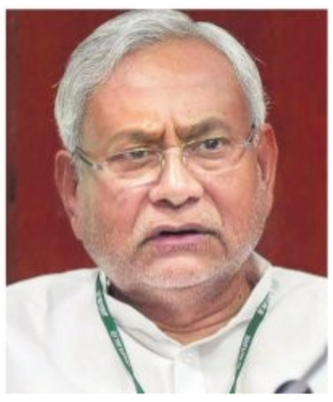
Nitish says happy with Oppn conclave outcome in B'luru

Bihar CM denies rumours of rift over skipping joint press conference

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna



BREAKING his silence over returning from the Opposition meeting held in Bengaluru early, Bihar chief minister Nitish Kumar on Wednesday said that it happened as he wanted to be in Rajgir in Nalanda district in connection with the 'Malmas fair', an annual event.

Nitish had returned to Patna on Tuesday evening after skipping the press conference organised after the conclusion of the two-the Opposition leaders' conclave, triggering speculation over whether he was unhappy over some decisions taken in the meeting.

It was also alleged that Nitish was also not pleased with the nomenclature of the alliance of the Opposition parties as 'INDIA' (Indian National Development Inclusive Alliance).

Scotching all such speculations, the JD(U) told mediapersons in Rajgir that no importance should be attached to such allegations.

He said that he was not unhappy over the naming of the alliance as 'INDIA' or any other issue.

Replying to a media query, he said that he also did not aspire to become the convener of the alliance or any other position in it.

"My only wish is that all Opposition parties come together. Measures should be taken for the growth of the country. All decisions have been taken with the consensus of all as discussions were held in a very congenial atmosphere," Nitish said.

On the NDA meeting held in New Delhi on Tuesday, Nitish said that the meeting had no significance as such a meeting was not held earlier during the tenure of the present regime in the Centre.

When the Opposition parties convened their meeting in Bengaluru, NDA also called a meeting, he added.

He said that BJP was claiming that so many parties attended the meeting by inviting all and sundry but the Opposition meeting was attended by actual parties. Nitish claimed that the results of 2024 general election will be 'shaandaar' (unbelievable).

He said that some more political parties have shown their interest in coming with the Opposition camp. "But I will not disclose their names right now. Else they (BJP) will do something (wrong) with them," he added.

'Fine with INDIA'

It was alleged that Nitish was also not pleased with the nomenclature of the alliance of the Opposition parties as 'INDIA' (Indian National Development Inclusive Alliance). Scotching all such speculations, the JD(U) leader told mediapersons in Rajgir that no importance should be attached to such allegations. "My only wish is that all Opposition parties come together, Nitish said on Wednesday.

C'garh BJP launches drive before drafting poll manifesto

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

THE opposition BJP has commenced its Mission-23 plan to reach out to the people to seek their suggestions and issues found pertinent to be incorporated ahead of drafting its manifesto for the upcoming Assembly polls.

From the 31-member ghosna patra committee constituted earlier, the party has formed 15 committees, which has begun its visit. The BJP has appointed the senior leaders as incharge for the five divisions of the state. The state BJP in-charge Om Mathur has instructed the party cadres to secure the feedback from the grassroots levels.

The committees will visit every village and city to touch upon all segments of the society. Each committee has 2-3 members. As part of the extensive exercise, they will be deliberate with the cross-section of the population and engage in "meaningful discussions" with the people, elucidate their responses on their issues including the development, education, amenities, local concerns and other expectations that will be reflected upon as basis for the party's new manifesto.

NCP MLAs play hide & seek in House amid Maha uncertainty

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

NATIONALIST Congress Party (NCP) MLAs are playing hide and seek in the ongoing session of Maharashtra state assembly, making it difficult to figure out who is siding with which faction.

Ajit Pawar has claimed support of 40 MLAs, but only 24 MLAs were officially seen with him. In the assembly, only 12 to 16 MLAs of NCP were seen sitting on ruling benches, while 12 to 14 MLAs were seen sitting with Opposition. The remaining MLAs are playing hide and seek. There are 54 NCP MLAs in the assembly.

"These NCP MLAs are entering the House only to sign the attendance, they avoid sitting in the House so that they can remain neutral in times of crisis in the party. The MLAs do not want to be seen either with Ajit Pawar or with Sharad Pawar. Therefore, it's very difficult to identify who have more MLAs with them," said a senior Congress MLA.

A senior NCP MLA belonging to Ajit Pawar faction said that this confusion will continue until Ajit Pawar is elevated as chief minister of Maharashtra. Ajit Pawar's met PM Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah on Tuesday late evening in Delhi.

"We were told that very soon we will get the positive and good news. The reason is Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde was not present in this long confidential meeting even though he was in Delhi to attend the NDA meeting. We can read this absence of CM Shinde in many ways, but let's see, we are keeping our fingers crossed," said a NCP leader

First crack in NDA?

Bacchu Kadu, head of Prahar Janshakti Party who attended the BJP-led NDA meeting on Tuesday in Delhi, said he did attend the NDA meeting, but that does not mean that he is part of NDA at all. He said his support to NDA should not be taken for granted. "I will first consult with my party people and then take the decisions over joining the NDA," Kadu clarified.

Oppn claims liquor scam brewing in Raj

Political corridors in Jaipur are buzzing about a liquor scam in Rajasthan, similar to one in Delhi that put AAP leader and former deputy chief minister Manish Sisodia behind bars. The sale of liquor is a major source of revenue for the government in the desert state, but political insiders say documents similar to the ones in Delhi have been found here as well. Some Opposition leaders have been collecting the documents related to liquor. Sources said the name of ruling party leader has emerged. Opposition leaders said that after this scam the difficulties for Congress are bound to escalate.

No animosity between Raje & Pilot

Former Chief Minister Vasundhara Raje and former deputy Chief Minister Sachin Pilot were seen engaged in a discussion in the assembly. Pilot has been demanding an investigation into the allegations of corruption during Raje's tenure. Pilot first sat on a hunger strike on April 11 and then raised it again during his five-day padayatra to Jaipur. He also accused CM Gehlot and Raje of having secret alliance. Political pundits say after the high command intervention, the Gehlot-Pilot cold war has ended. Pilot has almost dropped the issue of corruption in Raje's tenure.

2 Kuki women paraded naked in Manipur, ITLF condemns incident

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

TWO Kuki-Zo women were paraded naked and allegedly gang raped on May 4, a day after the ethnic violence in Manipur broke out. The horrific incident came to light on Wednesday after a purported video went viral on social media.

The Indigenous Tribal Leaders' Forum (ITLF) strongly condemned the incident and called it a "sickening" act. "Two-and-a-half month into the ethnic conflict in Manipur, evidence of atrocities committed against Kuki-Zo tribals continue to surface. A video that went viral today shows a large Meitei mob parading two Kuki-Zo tribal women naked towards a paddy field to be gang-raped," the ITLF alleged.

After the video went viral, the police filed a case of abduction and gang rape. "As regard to the viral video of two women paraded naked by unknown armed miscreants on May 4, 2023, a case of abduction, gang rape and murder was registered at Nongpok Sekmai PS (Thoubal District) against unknown armed miscreants and the probe has begun. The state police is making all-out efforts to arrest the culprits," Manipur Police tweeted.

The ITLF said the incident occurred at B Phainom village in Kangpokpi district on May 4. "The gang rape of the women happened after the village was burnt down and two men – one middle-aged and another a teenager – were beaten to death by the mob," the ITLF said.

"The ordeal suffered by these innocent women is amplified by the perpetrators' decision to share the video, which shows the identity of the victims, on social media," the organisation said.

It demanded that the Centre, state government, National Commission for Women and National Commission for Scheduled Tribes take cognizance of the offence and initiate necessary measures.

Meanwhile, a TMC team visited Manipur on Wednesday to meet people affected by the violence. In the Imphal valley, large groups of women hit the streets on Wednesday defying curfew responding to a protest call by Khwairamband Ima Keithel Joint Coordinating Committee for Peace.

PFI's 'master trainer' held from East Champaran

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

BIHAR anti-terrorism squad (ATS) and national investigation agency (NIA) on Wednesday arrested master trainer of outlawed Popular Front of India (PFI) Yaqub alias Sultan Usman Khan, from East Champaran district in Bihar.

Acting on a tip off, a joint team of NIA, ATS and East Champran police conducted a raid at Bansghat Gawandara village under Chakia police station late on Tuesday and took Yaqub into custody. It could not be known whether any illegal document was recovered from his possession at the time of his arrest. The NIA later took the alleged master trainer to an undisclosed location.

Superintendent of Police (SP), East Champaran, Kantesh Kumar Mishra confirmed the arrest and said the district police extended its cooperation against the activist, who was absconding for long.

Yaqub came into limelight about four year ago when a video showing him imparting physical training to newly recruited members of PFI at Gandhi Maidan in Chakia had gone viral on social media.

Heavy rains lash Gujarat, rivers in spate as dams put on high alert

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

LARGE parts of Gujarat, including Rajkot, Surat, and Gir Somnath, received heavy to very heavy rain on Wednesday, disrupting normal life.

Water entered houses in many villages and flooded approach roads, rendering places inaccessible in Junagadh's Mangrol taluka and leaving several people were trapped.

Out of Gujarat's 206 reservoirs, 43 have been placed on high alert due to heavy inflow of water. Another 18 reservoirs are on alert mode and warnings have been issued for another 19, said the state government.

Many villages in Gir Somnath district's Sutrapada taluka became islands, and water entered several houses, destroying grains and other household items.

Monsoon rivers such as the Saraswati and Hiran are overflowing, creating floods in low-lying areas, according to officials.

Flooding led many individuals to escape to their rooftops in many villages. Junagadh city and Keshod town in the district were thrown into disarray. Several roads were flooded, and vehicles were stranded in low-lying regions. Teams from the National Disaster Response Force (NDRF), the State Disaster Response Force (SDRF), and local police worked to rescue and relocate individuals in the damaged sections of the district.

According to officials, an NDRF crew rescued over 100 people from flooded villages in Gir Somnath's Veraval taluka, which was one of the worst-affected districts due to Wednesday's downpour. South Gujarat's Valsad and Surat districts were also impacted by heavy rainfall.

Several residential societies in the Valsad district's Vapi town were inundated.

Political action shifts to MP for women-poet singers ahead of polls

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

THE assembly polls-bound Madhya Pradesh is currently witnessing an interesting battle of songs between two women poet-singers — the Bihar-based Neha Singh Rathore and Bundelkhand (UP)-based Anamika Jain Amber.

The battle between the two young women poets-singers isn't new but goes back to the 2021-22 assembly poll season of adjoining Uttar Pradesh.

Just a few months before the assembly polls in BJP-ruled UP in the spring of 2022, Neha Singh Rathore came out with a popular Bhojpuri composition, "UP mein ka ba," which targeted the Yogi Adityanath-led state government on a host of issues. Just a few weeks later, the Lalitpur-UP born Anamika responded to Neha's number with her Bundeli composition, "UP mein baba hain-UP mein baba," which narrated the achievements of the BJP government in the politically crucial north Indian state.

While the BJP retained power with an impressive majority in UP in March 2022, the Bihar-based Bhojpuri singer received a notice under Section 160 CrPc from Kanpur police in UP around 11 months later, over multiple complaints about Rathore allegedly inciting hatred.

Five months later, another BJP-ruled state Madhya Pradesh, is proving to be an ideal ground for revival of the battle of songs between the two young women poets-singers, ahead of the year-end assembly polls.

Neha who was recently booked by the Bhopal police on a ruling BJP leader's complaint over her social media post, allegedly linking RSS with the shocking urination on a tribal man episode in MP, recently released on the social media a composition, "MP mein ka ba" on the lines of her highly popular 'UP Mein ka ba' song.

Meanwhile, Anamika's responded to Rathore through the composition, 'Mama Magic karat hain-Modi magic karat Hain." The song is a reply to those who have started questioning MP.

16 electrocuted at Namami Gange project site in U'khand

NARENDRA SETHI @ New Delhi

AT least 16 people, including a police sub-inspector and three home guards, were electrocuted and two others injured Wednesday morning at a sewage treatment plant of the Namami Gange project in Uttarakhand's Chamoli district.

The Uttarakhand Power Corporation Ltd said the incident occurred after power was restored following a 20-minute shutdown for repairs. A power transformer also reportedly blew up. A police team had gone to the spot in connection with the death of a watchman due to electrocution. The police team were killed when high-voltage electricity passed through an iron railing.

"After the transformer blast, there was electrocution. People were present in the premises. The ground was wet. There was an iron railing..." Chamoli Deputy SP Pramod Shah told this newspaper.

2 CRORE STUDENTS ENROLLED IN PRIMARY SCHOOLS: YOGI

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

Stressing on elevating the standard of education, both at the basic and higher levels, UP CM Yogi Adityanath on Wednesday claimed that over the last six years, around 55 lakh-60 lakh more students had taken admission in state council schools while prior to 2017, parents would dread sending their children to such government-run primary schools.

The CM also extended an invitation to private university owners and higher education institution groups for investment in the state.

"Even the parents did not want to send their child to government schools which were in bad condition due to lack of maintenance. Today we find number of students going up in those government schools where unkempt bushes used to be a common visual on premises instead of well-kept trees and manicured play grounds.

Today, the walls of the school buildings are adorned with the creative expressions of students in the form of paintings, parents, enthused by the ambience, are willing to send their ward to school," he said adding that now over 1.91 crore students were being imparted knowledge in UP basic education schools and that number was more than the population of many countries of the world. While releasing a sum of ₹1,200 per student studying in schools of UP Basic Education Board for academic session 2023-24 on Wednesday, the CM stated that the amount was transferred to the parent's bank accounts through DBT for the purchase of uniforms, sweater, school bag, shoes, and stationery as per size and choices of the students.

Referring to NITI Aayog report, CM Yogi said that achieving the goal of liberating Uttar Pradesh from poverty was a significant accomplishment and among the parameters set by NITI Aayog, education was the primary one.

He stated that there was a substantial progress in the field of education, the positive results of which would be evident in the next 5-10 years. "Notably, the education sector has witnessed significant transformation, particularly in the aspirational districts," said Yogi.

Meanwhile, later in the day, the CM invited the prominent private universities and groups of higher education institutions to invest in education sector in UP.

He said the investment in education was never a waste. "It is a medium of sprucing up the future of society and the nation at large. UP, with a huge young population, has immense potential and probabilities and the private education groups should take benefit of this resources," said the CM while participating in an interactive session with the Chancellors,

Assuring the owners of higher educational institutions of all help in setting up universities in unserved districts of UP, CM Yogi UP was the representative of country's spiritual and cultural heritage and Varanasi was the living example of it.

SL's Parliament okays new anti-graft law

COLOMBO

SRI Lanka's Parliament on Wednesday approved an anti-corruption legislation as the nation attempts to overcome economic crisis.

The legislation is part of the prerequisites of an IMF bailout package approved in March, under which nearly $3 billion in government budgetary support will be disbursed in stages to the bankrupt nation.

The bill was passed without opposition in the 225-member parliament.

The new legislation aims at preventing and eradicating bribery and corruption, and enhancing transparency while increasing accountability and enhancing public confidence in Sri Lankan administration, according to the bill.

The IMF, which described Sri Lanka's debt as unsustainable, has stressed that anti-corruption and governance reforms are imperative in order to enable the Sri Lankans to benefit from the current economic reforms.

The development lender had said previously it was conducting, for the first time in an Asian country, an "in-depth governance diagnostic exercise" to assess corruption and vulnerabilities and "provide prioritiSed and sequenced recommendations." The IMF Governance Diagnostic Report is set to be published in September.

Sri Lanka's total debt has exceeded $83 billion, of which $41.5 billion is foreign and $42.1 billion is domestic.

In a bid to overcome the crisis, Sri Lanka has taken initiatives to restructure its both domestic and foreign debts.

Sri Lanka's economic crisis caused severe shortages of food, medicine, fuel, cooking gas and electricity last year which led to massive street protests that forced then-President Gotabaya Rajapaksa to flee the country and resign.

The economy has shown signs of improvement since current president Ranil Wickremesinghe took over as president last July. Shortages have been alleviated, power cuts have ended and the rupee has begun to strengthen.

Amid arrest threat, Putin to skip BRICS summit

Russia will be represented by Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov

CAPE TOWN

VLADIMIR Putin has agreed not to attend an economic summit in Johannesburg next month after being asked to stay away by host country South Africa, which was facing a major legal quandary over whether to arrest the Russian president on an International Criminal Court warrant.

Vladimir Putin, Russian President

The August summit brings together Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa — a bloc of developing economies known as BRICS.

Putin was formally invited to a BRICS summit due to take place in Johannesburg between August 22 and 24, but Pretoria has been under heavy domestic and international pressure not to host him.

Officials have said that Putin wants to attend the gathering but have been trying to persuade him to stay away to avoid the legal and diplomatic fallout over his international arrest warrant.

Russia will be represented at the BRICS summit by Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov, Ramaphosa's office said in a statement. All the leaders of the other four countries, including China's Xi Jinping, will attend the summit.

On Wednesday, the office of South African President Cyril Ramaphosa said Putin will not attend the BRICS summit after a "mutual agreement," ending months of speculation. South Africa is a signatory to the Rome Statute that established the ICC and would have been obliged it to arrest him. Although Moscow has dismissed the warrant and Russia doesn't recognise the authority of the international court, Putin has not travelled to any country that is a signatory to the court's treaty since he was indicted by the ICC in March for war crimes relating to the abduction of children from Ukraine.

South African authorities had given strong hints that they would have likely not executed the arrest warrant against Putin, but South Africa's main opposition party has taken the government to court in an attempt to compel it to arrest the Russian leader if he sets foot on South African territory.

S Iswaran questioned for 10 hrs by S'pore authorities

SINGAPORE

SINGAPORE'S Indian-origin Transport Minister S Iswaran was questioned for around 10 hours by the authorities in connection to an investigation into a case of corruption, according to local media reports.

Iswaran, 61, arrived at the Corrupt Practices Investigation Bureau (CPIB) building at Lengkok Bahru in Redhill estate at about 10.50 am on Tuesday and left at 8.48 pm in an SUV, according to a report by TODAY newspaper.

The minister, who has taken a leave of absence from his official duties, entered the compound alone.

Iswaran and Hotel Property Limited Managing Director Ong Beng Seng were arrested on July 11, the anti-graft body said last week, adding that the two were assisting with investigations. The agency did not give details on the nature of the probe.

Both were released on bail, and their passports were impounded as part of their bail conditions.

PM Lee Hsien Loong instructed Iswaran to take a leave of absence until the investigation was completed, the Prime Minister's Office said last week. He will remain in the city-state during this period and have no access to official resources and government buildings, the Straits Times newspaper reported.

THAI HOUSE BLOCKS PITA'S PM BID AGAIN

BANGKOK

Pita Limjaroenrat | AP

THE bitter battle to name Thailand's next PM took a major turn on Wednesday as Parliament voted to deny Pita Limjaroenrat, whose progressive Move Forward Party won a surprise victory in May's election, a second chance to be confirmed for the post.

Pita had assembled a coalition of parties holding a majority in the House of Representatives. But his nomination for PM was defeated in a joint vote of the House and Senate last week, with conservative military-appointed senators mostly refusing their support.

A joint session debated on Wednesday whether Pita could be nominated for a second time, and House Speaker Wan Muhamad Noor Matha then put the question to a vote. A motion to deny him a second chance was passed by a vote of 395 to 312 with eight abstentions, dashing the hopes of Pita's millions of supporters. The meeting of Parliament was then adjourned with no immediate indication of when it would vote again on a new prime minister.

Pita, during the debate on whether he could legally be renominated, said he would comply with the court's order to step down from his parliamentary post. "I think Thailand has changed, and will never be the same, since May 14," said Pita, referring to his party's election victory. "The people have won half the way. There's another half left. Although I still won't get to perform my duty, I'd like to ask all members to help take care of the people from now on."

"Thank you very much," he said before leaving the chamber to the applause of his supporters.

Pita's chances of being named PM had already looked slim. He was rebuffed by all but 13 members of the appointed Senate, which along with the military and courts represents the country's traditional conservative ruling class.

Attack at port ruins 60,000 tons of grain

KYIV

RUSSIA unleashed intense drone and missile attacks overnight on Wednesday, damaging critical port infrastructure in southern Ukraine, including grain and oil terminals, and wounding at least 12 people.

The bombardment crippled significant parts of export facilities in Odesa and nearby Chornomorsk and destroyed 60,000 tons of grain, according to Ukraine's Agriculture Ministry.

The Agriculture Ministry, citing experts, estimated it would take a year to restore the damaged facilities. The destroyed grain was supposed to have been loaded onto a vessel and sent through the grain corridor two months ago, the statement said.

"Such attacks by Russian terrorists are not only affecting our country but also global stability," Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said. He said Ukraine needs more anti-aircraft defence systems to protect the port.

Zelenskyy said his government is trying to find a way to maintain a corridor to keep grain exports flowing despite Russia's decision to abandon the deal brokered with the UN and Turkey.

"The corridor must be secure. In fact, knowing Russia, it won't be safe unless the UN starts working very clearly and firmly at the level of the secretary-general," he said.

Agriculture Minister Mykola Solskyi warned that if Ukraine cannot export food, "the population of the poorest countries will be on the brink of survival! The price of grain will increase, and not all countries will be able to afford buying agricultural products, which means food prices will significantly rise: flour, cereals, meat."

Wheat prices rose more than 2.5% on Tuesday and over 3% on Wednesday amid the attacks in Odesa.

AI to disrupt weapons' flow to Kremlin: UK

PRAGUE

BRITISH spies are already using artificial intelligence to hamper the supply of weapons to Russia, the head of Britain's MI6 agency said on Wednesday.

In a rare public speech, Richard Moore also urged Russians who oppose the invasion of Ukraine to spy for Britain, saying others had already done so since the war began. "Our door is always open," he said.

In a speech that depicted AI as both a huge potential asset and a major threat, Moore said his staff at Britain's foreign intelligence agency "are combining their skills with AI and bulk data to identify and disrupt the flow of weapons to Russia for use against Ukraine." Moore called China the "single most important strategic focus" for his agency and said, "we will increasingly be tasked with obtaining intelligence on how hostile states are using AI in damaging, reckless and unethical ways." AP

SUNAK APOLOGISES FOR LGBT BAN IN MILITARY, SAYS IT WAS A FAILURE OF BRITISH STATE

LONDON

BRITAIN Prime Minister Rishi Sunak on Wednesday made a formal apology for the "horrific" historic treatment of LGBT people who served in the military when homosexuality was banned.

"The ban on LGBT people serving in our military until the year 2000 was an appalling failure of the British state...," Rishi Sunak told the House of Commons.

"In that period, many endured the most horrific sexual abuse and violence, homophobic bullying and harassment, all while bravely serving this country," he added. "Today, on the behalf of the British state, I apologise."

The PM said he hoped those affected would now "feel proud parts of the veteran community that has done so much to keep our country safe."

The apology was prompted by the findings of a government-commissioned independent review into LGBT veterans who served between 1967 and 2000.

The report detailed "shocking evidence of a culture of homophobia, and of bullying, blackmail and sexual assaults, abusive investigations into sexual orientation and sexual preference, disgraceful medical examinations, including conversion therapy"

Report author Terence Etherton recommended that Sunak deliver an apology and that an "appropriate financial award" should be made to veterans affected by the pre-2000 ban.

Former British Army Officer Catherine Dixon, now vice-chair at LGBT charity Stonewall, called the apology "an important step to achieving justice for those LGBTQ+ people who served in HM Armed Forces and, like me, experienced shame, humiliation and a ruined military career because of our sexuality. AFP

Markets surge even as Sensex P/E touches 26

FII inflows, macroeconomic factors, hope of pause in rate hikes help rise indices

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

DOMESTIC equity market continues to defy valuation concerns and scale new highs every passing session. With this, the price-to-earnings ratio (P/E) of BSE Sensex has now climbed to 26, its highest level in the calendar year 2023. Nifty's P/E has jumped to over 24.

Rallying for the fifth straight session, 30-share pack Sensex rose 302 points to close at a record high of 67,097. Broader NSE Nifty gained 84 points to close at a high of 19,833.

On the back of strong foreign fund inflows, improving domestic macroeconomics and expectations that central banks worldwide would hit pause button on future rate hikes, Sensex and Nifty have gained about 16% each since March 29. Sensex has added over 9,000 points during this period while Nifty has added over 2,750 points.

"Liquidity flowing into Indian markets from abroad and local investors have led to expansion of valuations on expectations that earnings growth over next few years will bring down valuations that seem high now," said Deepak Jasani, head of retail research, HDFC Securities. In July, foreign institutional investors (FIIs) have been buyers in 12 out of 13 trading sessions and have invested over ₹16,250 crore via stock market alone, excluding bulk deals.

Jasani said once Q1 results are out, "we will better understand FY24 EPS (earnings per share) estimates and the absolute and relative valuation of the Indian markets". "Disruption in businesses has led to a shifting of market share from unorganised and small players to larger players who have mastered the art of cost-cutting. This has led to an expansion in valuation of such stocks," said Jasani.

Other experts believe while domestic market is running ahead of fundamentals, it may remain high in near term. They said Indian markets have traded at a much higher P/E in the past. At 19,800, Nifty is trading at above 20 times the estimated FY24 earnings. This is higher than the long-term PE of 16. Santosh Meena, research head, Swastika Investmart, said, "Current uptrend in Nifty is undeniably strong and there is a possibility it may surpass 20,000 mark by end of this month."

Demand for Jio Financial share fuel rally in Reliance

SACHIN KUMAR @ Mumbai

THE demand for shares of Jio Financial Services (JFS) has fueled rally in Reliance Industries Limited (RIL) shares.

As Wednesday was the last day to get shares of JFS by buying shares of RIL, several investors decided to put their money in India's largest company by market capitalisation before the end of trading yesterday. JFS, the financial services arm of RIL, will be spun out of the conglomerate on Thursday. Several brokerages have valued JFS at around ₹150-200 per share.

RIL shares have surged nearly 16% since May 4, when shareholders approved demerger of the company's financial services firm - Reliance Strategic Ventures, which is now renamed JFS. The shares have risen over 4% since July 8, when Reliance announced July 20 as record date for demerger of JFS. Investors' optimism helped RIL shares to touch 52-week high of ₹2,855 and closed 0.6 percent higher at ₹2,840 apiece on the Bombay Stock Exchange on Wednesday.

"It (rally in RIL shares) could be one of the triggers but it could be because of other businesses. RIL results will be announced on Friday and the expectation is that most of the businesses (of RIL) should report good numbers," Gaurang Shah, Senior Vice President at Geojit Financial Services told TNIE. "JFS shares are likely to open anywhere between ₹160-185 per share and then will depend upon the demand and supply. The opportunities for JFS are going to be huge. RIL has got a well-established and strong network to reach out to people and that advantage will definitely be taken by JFS," he added.

RIL is demerging its financial service businesses and the spun-off entity is renamed JFS. Under the demerger scheme, RIL shareholders will get 1 share of the demerged entity Reliance Strategic Investments for every 1 share held by them in the conglomerate.

National Stock Exchange and BSE will conduct special pre-open session for Reliance for price discovery on Thursday.

RIL share rises 16% after approval for JFS demerger

RIL shares of surged have nearly 16 percent since May 4, when shareholders approved the demerger of the company's financial services firm - Reliance Strategic Ventures which is now renamed JFS

Insurers under I-T dept scanner in fake input tax case

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE income tax department has begun investigation into the case against insurance companies fraudulently availing input tax credit under GST, as per government sources.

The department is trying to establish that if these expenses are not genuine then they must have escaped the income tax assessment, a top government official added. "Nearly 22 companies including the Life Insurance Corporation (LIC), HDFC Life Insurance, ICICI Prudential, Max Life Insurance and Bajaj Allianz have given representations before the government in relation to fake input tax credit," the official said.

"We have to scrutinize the documents, start adjudication and recovery process," the official cited above further added. However, as per experts, the computation of income tax liability for life insurance companies is slightly different from non-life companies, so whether the penalty provisions for tax evasion can be invoked is a bit ambiguous. As per tax experts, the only option available to insurance firms for the resolution of this issue is litigation. The entire matter is fact based. The extent of evidence and the quality of it will decide the outcome of the matter. However, a long drawn process of litigation seems inevitable.

"On the GST front, the moot point remains whether there is any evasion of tax as relevant taxes may have been paid on procurements and supplies. The relevant question is whether there is an absence of service and in presence of service, whether valuation can be a subject matter of investigation", explained Abhishek A Rastogi, founder of Rastogi Chambers, who is representing some of the taxpayers on this issue.

"On the income tax side, the issue would arise with respect to disallowance of expenditure. In case the revenue department is able to prove that the purchases were either fake or non-genuine, the notices will be issued. Taxpayers will have all legitimate rights to substantiate the genuineness of the transactions so that income tax authorities do not initiate proceedings under section 148A of the Income Tax", added Rastogi.

As per government sources, insurance companies allegedly paid a sum to intermediaries which was further paid to commission agents in violation of the permissible limits prescribed in the rules and regulations of the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (IRDAI). These insurance companies collectively are facing tax liability in thousands of crores along with penalties prescribed in the tax laws.

'Sustained growth can eradicate poverty'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA can get rid of poverty if it maintains the current growth momentum and creates jobs, World Bank President Ajay Banga said on Wednesday.

He said the country has come out relatively strong from the two years of challenging times of Covid while stressing upon the need for skill-building and education. As per Banga, most countries would be elated with over 7% growth rate that India registered in FY23.

"India has had an advantage over poverty as your economy has been growing. You had a year or two of challenges during the pandemic; you've come out of it relatively strong. If you can maintain this momentum, the best way to drive a nail in the coffin of poverty is growth," Banga said. He added that India has an advantage due to its economic growth, though the global fight of 40 years against poverty got impacted due to Covid pandemic and high interest rates.

"I am more optimistic about today than I was in the past few years, considering all the investment in digital and physical infrastructure. India is focused on growth and that makes me optimistic," Banga said while sharing his perspective on India's economic growth.

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman and Banga met in the capital on Wednesday. They discussed India's sectoral priorities including municipal financing, logistics, recycling of water, among others.

HDFC Bank to raise exposure in infra projects post merger

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

INCREASE in balance sheet as a result of mega merger of HDFC Bank with housing finance giant HDFC will help the bank to increase its exposure to larger infrastructure projects, said Sashidhar Jagdishan, managing director (MD) and chief executive officer (CEO), HDFC Bank.

"A bigger balance sheet post merger will enable HDFC Bank to take a larger exposure in infrastructure. This means we can participate more meaningfully in India's growth story and contribute to nation building. In light of all this, the pace at which we aim to grow - we could be creating a new HDFC Bank every 4 years," said Jagdishan in a message to shareholders in the annual report for 2022-23.

Merger of the HDFC twins had come into effect from July 1, creating a financial services giant with a balance sheet of Rs18 lakh crore.

As India grows, home buying across the country will only accelerate and emerge as a key driver of India's GDP over the next decade, especially affordable housing. Investments in infrastructure are vital for India's growth, he added.

HDFC Bank with its stronger digital platforms, digital journeys and physical branch network will have the ability to offer the home loan customer a complete bouquet of the Bank's and subsidiaries' products and services.

"Savings accounts, personal loans, insurance cover, SIPs can all be bundled along with a home loan to create a compelling value proposition to the customer, that probably does not exist in the market at the scale at which this is envisaged," he said.

Zhang quits match after opponent rubs out a ball mark

TIMELINE

With a few of the other wrestlers moving court over the trial exemption given to Bajrang Punia and Vinesh Phogat, a look at the timeline of events over the last two months...

1. Ad-hoc body formed to oversee wrestling in the country had earlier said they would conduct trials to select the squad for the Asian Games by June 20.
2. It later emerges that that wasn't a hard deadline. So, they moved it indefinitely to give more time for the likes of Vinesh and Bajrang to get competition ready.
3. The Indian Olympic Association (IOA) had asked all National Sports Federations (NSFs) to submit the names of athletes going to the Asian Games. From that list, IOA would in turn submit those names to the Olympic Council of Asia (OCA) by July 15.
4. While most federations adhered to this hard deadline, WFI fell foul. They asked OCA for an extension.
5. Wrestlers, including Bajrang and Vinesh, asked for trials to be around August 10. Both of them have since left for training outside the country (interestingly, when they initially wanted to go abroad, it was to get ready for selection trials but now both of them have been given exemption).
6. Around the last week of June, it comes to light that as many as six wrestlers (Sangeeta Phogat, Sakshi Malik, Satyawart Kadian and Jitender Kinha being the others) would need to win just one bout against the winners of the selection trials to be selected for both Asian Games and Worlds in their respective weight categories. This proposal, expectedly, backfires.
7. Olympics Council of Asia gave an extension but only till July 23.
8. Decision taken to give exemption to Bajrang and Vinesh. WFI rules say: "... selection trials in all weight categories are mandatory, however, the selection committee will have the discretion to select the iconic players like medallists of Olympics/World Championships without trial provided recommendation by chief coach/foreign expert."
9. Antim Panghal and Sujeet Kalkal move Delhi High Court challenging the exemption granted to Vinesh and Bajrang.

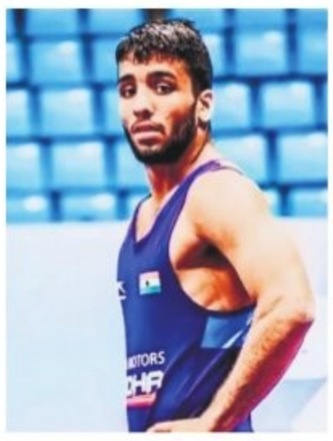
Asian Games trials: Frustrated wrestlers approach court

Staying away from his family to prepare for Asiad trials, Sujeet's dream got shattered when Bajrang was given direct entry; he along with Antim move court

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

HE has been following a strict diet regime so that he could maintain weight. He was staying away from his family and has not met his twin sister for almost eight months. All to take part in the Asian Games trials. It can now remain an unfulfilled dream.

Wrestler Sujeet Kalkal watched in joy and excitement as his favourite player Carlos Alacaraz heralded a new era in men's tennis when he defeated 23-Grand Slam winner Novak Djokovic at the Wimbledon on Sunday. Like the Spaniard, 20-year-old Sujeet too had to beat his famed and established counterpart, Bajrang Punia, if he wished to fulfill his long-cherished dream of winning an Olympic medal. In their first meeting last year during the 2022 Commonwealth Games selection trials, he lost narrowly to the Tokyo Olympic bronze medallist. But the upcoming trials to pick the national squad for the Asian Games was his chance to avenge the loss. Alcaraz's win over Djokovic has given him hope. He was ready to take on multiple World Championships medallist Bajrang on the mat. Unfortunately, the ad-hoc committee running the sport in the country in absence of the Wrestling Federation of India gave direct entry to Bajrang and Vinesh Phogat in the men's freestyle 65kg and women's 53kg to dent the hope of Sujeet. "How can they deprive wrestlers who have been working hard for years a chance to compete?" he questioned. "We all have sacrificed a lot to reach here. I am not asking for a direct entry. The only thing I am asking for is a fair trial to claim the spot in the national team."



Distressed wrestlers Sujeet Kalkal (left) and Antim Panghal have moved to court

The wrestler along with Antim Panghal, who competes in 53kg, on Wednesday moved the Delhi High Court challenging the direct entry given to Bajrang and Vinesh by the ad-hoc panel. The hearing is scheduled for Thursday. "We hope the court listens to our plea and gives us justice," added Sujeet, the reigning national champion in 65kg.

Staying away from twin sister

Sujeet's family lives in Dadri but his father-cum-coach Dayanand Kalkal has shifted with him to Sonepat so that he can focus on wrestling and trains regularly at Raipur Akhada. "It's been more than two years that we rented a flat here in Sonepat. I have not met my mother Manjeet Devi and twin sister Sujata for almost eight months now. Staying away from sister is a difficult part as we are twins and she misses me a lot. But that's the sacrifices we have to make if we wish to play for the country and win international medals," said the wrestler, who had won a gold medal each in the U-23 and junior Asian Championships last year apart from finishing first in the Tunisia Ranking Series. With the Asian Games trials round the corner, Sujeet has been trying to maintain weight. It meant he was forced to stay away from his favourite sweet dish churma, which is prepared by mashing up chapati in ghee and jaggery. "My mother used to send churma earlier but for the past two-three months I have not eaten it. I have asked her not to send me churma. Though she has been insisting, I have been avoiding it," added Sujeet.

While his father was busy with filing a writ petition in the court, Sujeet on Wednesday decided to skip the training in the evening and watch his favourite travelling show on Discovery channel. "I like travelling. Besides tennis, I watch football. Neymar is my favourite footballer. Watching my favourite sports stars and TV shows helps me getting calm and focussed."

Protest in Hisar, Delhi

Antim's fellow wrestlers, her family members and others from the community on Wednesday held a protest in Hisar, Haryana against the decision of the ad-hoc panel. Antim also released a video slamming the decision to give quota to Vinesh. Meanwhile, Vishal Kaliraman (65kg), a trainee from the iconic Chhatrasal Stadium in New Delhi, also spoke to media and raised objections. He said the panel's decision will have a lasting impact on his and many other wrestlers' career. The wrestler along with his counterparts also staged a protest in the national capital. All eyes will now be on Delhi High Court on Thursday as a relief from it can give several wrestlers including Sujeet and Antim a chance they deserve.

LIFT-OFF

The 2023 FIFA Women's World Cup kicks off with New Zealand facing Norway in Auckland, and Australia playing Ireland in front of a sell-out crowd of more than 80,000 in Sydney on Thursday. A look...

BIGGER THAN EVER BEFORE

For the first time in the history, the women's World Cup will see 32 teams go up against each other in their quest for global glory. The tournament featured only 16 teams as recently as 2011, then 24 in France four years ago when the USA retained the trophy. That reflects a dramatic rise in interest in women's football over the last decade beyond its traditional heartland of the United States, and a swarm of European sides will be aiming to snatch their title. The number of tickets sold already a month ago exceeded the number of tickets sold in total in France.

FIGHT FOR EQUAL PAY CONTINUES

While USA women fought for equal pay and landed a landmark deal last year, the build-up to this tournament saw Canada team threaten to strike in a row over pay, funding and contractual issues. England players expressed "disappointment" on Tuesday that talks with the Football Association (FA) over bonus payments and commercial structures would not be resolved before the World Cup. Australia's Matildas urged FIFA on Monday to help close international football's gender pay gap, while calling on more countries to strike collective bargaining agreements to make the women's game "as big as it can be".

TV BLACKOUT AVERTED

A stand-off over the sale of broadcast rights in the biggest European countries — Germany, the UK, France, Italy and Spain — was only resolved last month. The threat of a TV blackout was averted late in the day after FIFA president Gianni Infantino had openly criticised the amount of money being offered by broadcasters. Only three days ago, it was confirmed that FanCode & DD Sports will show the event in India.

$152 million the total prize pot is up from $50 million to $152 million but pales in comparison to the $440 million dished at the 2022 men's event

Whatever payments we do, we will go through the associations & then the associations will make the relevant payments to their players - Infantino on whether the 732 players in the WC will be paid at least $30,000 each as FIFA had said earlier

IOA clarifies trial criteria but complexity remains

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

THE Indian Olympic Association (IOA) has come out with a statement a day after its ad-hoc panel, responsible for managing Wrestling Federation of India (WFI), released selection criteria for trials on July 22-23. The selection criteria that gave direct entry to Bajrang Punia and Vinesh Phogat drew flak from the wrestling fraternity.

The committee has been functioning in a bizarre manner and had been taking decisions without the knowledge of IOA executive committee and sometimes even its top officials. The reason for giving exemptions to Bajrang and Vinesh were not known. Whether the wrestlers sought such an exemption is not clear but as of now they have not said anything. This daily too has been highlighting about the lack of clarity on the ad-hoc panel's part on quite a few matters including selection trials. The IOA, however, released a statement saying their endeavour was to the give 'fair' opportunities to all wrestlers. Even though the two wrestlers were given direct entry to Asian Games, their position will be clear closer to the Games. Interestingly, the IOA felt that they can name reserve players who could be accommodated later before the Games. "The selection process for wrestlers... is designed to be fair, transparent and in accordance with the guidelines set by the International Federation..." said the statement which claimed that the selection committee comprised of experts. Interestingly, the two experts on the ad-hoc panel were in the dark before the release of criteria.

Football team in a bind?

The Indian football team that doesn't meet the selection criteria of the sports ministry seemed to be affected. It is understood that the All India Football Federation (AIFF) and its president, who is the joint secretary and acting chief executive officer of the IOA, were trying to get the official nod from the sports ministry.

Asia Cup: India begin campaign against Pakistan in Kandy on Sep 2

GOMESH S @Chennai

AFTER much delay and parleys between India and Pakistan, the long overdue schedule of Asia Cup is finally out. It will be played in two countries, a hybrid model that has been introduced to accommodate India who refused to play in Pakistan. The refusal even threatened to disrupt the 50-over World Cup to be held later in India. However, better sense prevailed and the Asia Cup schedule has been finalised.

Pakistan will face Nepal in the opening game of the tournament in Multan on August 30. India will start their campaign against Pakistan in Kandy on September 2. While India, Pakistan and Nepal are in Group A, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh and Afghanistan are in Group B. "The Asia Cup holds a special place in the hearts of cricket enthusiasts across the continent. It goes beyond being just a tournament; it symbolises the rich tapestry of cultures, traditions and shared passion for the game that binds our diverse nations together," Asian Cricket Council President Jay Shah said in a statement.

The six-team tournament which will be played in the 50-over format will begin in Pakistan before moving to Sri Lanka as per the hybrid model that was decided by the ACC a while ago. Two teams from each group will qualify for Super 4s and the top two will play in the final which is set to be played in Colombo on September 17.

Schedule: Group stage: Aug 30: Pak vs Nepal, Multan; Aug 31: Ban vs SL, Kandy; Sept 2: Ind vs Pak, Kandy, Sept 3: Ban vs Afg, Lahore; Sept 4: Ind vs Nepal, Kandy; Sept 5: SL vs Afg, Lahore; Super 4s: Sept 6: A1 vs B2, Lahore; Sept 9: B1 vs B2, Colombo; Sept 10: A1 vs A2, Colombo; Sept 12: A2 vs B1, Colombo; Sept 14: A1 vs B1, Colombo; Sept 15: A2 vs B2, Colombo; Sept 17: Final, Colombo.

The tournament that was supposed to be played in Pakistan became a topic of debate when the BCCI said that they would not be sending a team to the country citing their government's lack of permission. After much debate, the ACC eventually agreed to the hybrid model proposed by ex-PCB chair Najam Sethi. Later, the Asia Cup issue is finally resolved with BCCI secretary Shah and the current PCB chair Zaka Ashraf meeting in Durban during the ICC AGM to finalise the schedule. As for the ODI World Cup, the global body has announced the schedule but per the last update the PCB awaits government permission who will be sending a security team to assess the venues before giving approval for the same.

The continental tournament that will be vital for all five teams, barring Nepal, in their preparations for the ODI World Cup which will begin less than 20 days after the Asia Cup. The interesting thing about the Asia Cup schedule is that the first Super 4s game between A1 and B2 will be played in Lahore. And the ACC has made it clear that Pakistan will be A1 and India will be A2 irrespective of where they finish. Which means, Pakistan will play in the opening game in Multan, travel to Sri Lanka to play India and then go back to Lahore Super 4s match (should they qualify) and return to the island nation for the rest of the tournament. Likewise, in Group B, Sri Lanka will be B1 irrespective of where they finish and Bangladesh will be B2 which means they will play all Super 4s games at home. If any of the aforementioned teams from Group A and B does not qualify, Nepal and Afghanistan will take their place, respectively.

Can India complete clean sweep?

After a dominating show in Dominica, Rohit and Co. will be looking to win the second Test against West Indies that begins on Wednesday. A look...

RAHANE, GILL SEEK RUNS

Ajinkya Rahane does not have any red ball cricket to play for until the next tour in December and would want to make a lasting impression should he want to secure his place in the squad for the South Africa tour. Shubman Gill, on the other hand, has asked to bat at three, but was not able to build on the momentum and will be itching to do so in Port of Spain.

Shubman Gill

WILL THERE BE PACE?

Kemar Roach, Alzarri Joseph, Jason Holder — on paper the three would form a really good pace attack especially with the dukes ball. But without any help from the surface they can't do much. The hosts may want to provide the pacers with some help for the next game should they have a say in the contest at all.

EYES ON UNADKAT

Jaydev Unadkat, playing his third Test match, had very little to show in the first game. He was the lone bowler to remain wicketless in the game and it is yet to be seen if he retains his place or either of the pacers — Shivam Mavi or Mukesh Kumar — or Axar Patel comes into the XI depending on how the pitch turns out.

Shirt No 5, a permanent ODI No 5?

KALYANI MANGALE @Chennai

WHEN you think of Jemimah Rodrigues, the phrase 'chopping and changing' comes to mind. Since her debut against Australia in 2018, India has played 52 ODIs with the right-hander playing 23 games. Initially, in her career, like many other newcomers, she would get the opportunity to bat once or twice in the three matches series. In 2019, one of the best years for India as they won all four series they played, Rodrigues became regular in the XI, helping her team win nine of their 12 matches.

However, it all came crashing down when South Africa visited India after the lengthy Covid break. India lost both ODI and T20I series. The multi-format series in England didn't go India's way and Rodrigues lost her place in the ODI set-up. Despite a run of some excellent individual performances in the T20Is, when India announced the squad for the ODI World Cup in New Zealand, she was not part of it. Not even in the reserves.

If the chopping part of the equation took an emotional toll on the 22-year-old, 'changing' derailed the possibility of consolidating her position in the batting order. ODIs and T20Is combined, she has batted at every position from opener to No. 5 for India. In the ODI series against Bangladesh, she found herself batting at No. 5, where she has never batted before. While she did not fire in the first game and India lost, the Mumbaikar came back strongly to smash a 78-ball 86 and take four wickets, helping the visitors level the series on Wednesday.

In the post-match press conference, she explained the reason behind this change that helped her smash her highest ODI score. "Captain (Harmanpreet Kaur) and coach (Nooshin al Khadeer) told me, I have to bat at five in this series to help the team. And I was ready for it," she said. After some low scores in the series, Rodrigues says she was annoyed with herself for not making the most of the opportunities. Brief scores: India 228/8 in 50 ovs (Rodrigues 86; Nahida 2/37) bt Bangladesh 120 all out in 35.1 ovs (Fargana 47; Rodrigues 4/3) by 108 runs.

WADA REVEALS MURKY WORLD OF DOPING IN INDIA

ON Tuesday evening, the World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA), released a summary report after an years-long investigation, titled 'Operation Carousel', into National Anti-Doping Agency of India (NADA). Here's an explainer....

When did WADA begin the investigation?

The body formerly launched Operation Carousel in 2019. But they had begun liaising with NADA from as early as 2016. "In 2017, the world body audited the NADA anti-doping programme. That audit found out: "... several non-conformities and resulted in WADA issuing a Corrective Action Report ("CAR"). Such reports assist a Signatory to enhance their anti-doping program, on a priority basis, by providing a timeline for the implementation of corrective actions." WADA issued a second CAR to NADA in 2020.

Why did WADA launch Operation Carousel?

In 2018, WADA's Intelligence and Investigation department launched an investigation into an allegation "that certain elements of NADA's testing program were not in accordance with the requirements of the World Anti-Doping Code ("Code") and the International Standard for Testing and Investigation ("ISTI") and the International Standard for Result Management ("ISRM")," according to the report. It was passed on to WADA in 2019.

What did OC do?

It began monitoring certain sports and athletes in 2019. "As a result of this monitoring, OC recommended to NADA that it develop a testing program on Indian powerlifters. In response, NADA undertook several sample collections, and seven powerlifters were caught doping and sanctioned." More significantly, in the lead up to the Birmingham CWG, OC "began examining the doping practices (e.g., substances, sports, prevalence) and patterns..."

Target testing?

Yes. "In May 2022, target testing was conducted on 13 high-level Athletes training abroad. Of the 13 Athletes targeted, four had not filed their mandatory Whereabouts and one had updated their Whereabouts at the last minute and falsely claimed to have been in India. From the target testing an Athlete tested positive. Specifically, an anabolic steroid was discovered in the sample of one of the Athletes. This Athlete later admitted the violation and was sanctioned.

Did OC also find gaps in NADA's testing process?

They found "NADA's supervision of 'Whereabouts was inadequate, that there was a lack of sufficient testing, and that NADA didn't have an effective investigative capability."

What was NADA's response?

They had discovered "41 Filing Failures and that 28 Missed Tests were now in the final stages of review.. "Moreover, from the NADA testing that had been triggered by the intervention of OC, four Athletes had tested positive (i.e., AAF) for Prohibited Substances. Of these four Athletes, one was part of the 28 Athletes who, as of 17 November 2022, had not been tested in 2022, and one had not been tested out of competition in 2022. In May 2023, NADA reported to OC that ultimately, between 17 November 2022 and 16 May 2023, it had discovered and recorded 97 Whereabouts Failures against 70 Athletes.

Indians can now go to 57 travel destinations without a pre-departure visa application, the Henley Passport Index has revealed.

The Health Ministry has eased COVID-19 guidelines, dropping the earlier requirement for RT-PCR-based testing of a random two per cent subset of international visitors.

A TALE AS OLD AS TIME

Araku valley

Araku Valley Tribal Museum

Araku Valley is not a popular tourist destination for anyone outside Andhra Pradesh, but a visit to the annual Gems of Araku festival proves that this valley makes for a great coffee-themed holiday

Araku valley

Katiki waterfalls

Borra caves

ROMAL LAISRAM

As you first glimpse the expansive valley, it reminds you of a big glistening emerald surrounded by mighty verdant hills. Verdant, but naked. But we digress. This well-kept secret in Andhra Pradesh's northeast corner is slowly but surely becoming one of the region's most popular tourist destinations and even though we've heard of it many times in the past — even once for alleged snowfall — it was world-renowned coffee that drew us here.

Araku or Aruku is a tale as old as time. It was always known, but required to be discovered. The British, like always, claimed to have discovered the valley before predictably then looting it of its natural wealth for over a century. Tale as old as time, indeed! The valley was, however, always considered a midland, both geographically and culturally. This home, to a largely Adivasi population, precariously holds together tribal hinterlands in both Andhra Pradesh and Odisha. So much so, most people here can speak both the languages (or at least local dialects of it) and treat the state border as simply as they would the threshold of their humble homes. Travelling across the border to the weekly market on either side is a done thing and spoken of nonchalantly, like a picnic at the local park.

We were invited to visit this unique piece of forgotten history as a part of the Gems of Araku festival that took place on May 4 and 5, earlier this year. The region, now globally renowned as a speciality coffee producer, is a favourite among coffee aficionados and cuppers (tasters/connoisseurs) — who consistently rate the coffees produced on the slopes of this 910-metre high valley, as some of the best in the world!

It should therefore be no surprise that we agreed to visit during this annual festival, just ahead of the monsoons. Gems of Araku began in the year 2009 and is curated by the Naandi Foundation and aims at celebrating the seasons' speciality coffees as well as the farms and farmers in the Araku region. Over 1,200 coffees each season are put through a rigorous evaluation by professional cuppers following Specialty Coffee Association's (SCA) cupping protocols and over 3,00,000 Adivasis from 35 major tribes, 90,000 farms and 1,500+ villages participate.

The scale is immense and the produce, the finest we've had the honour of ever tasting. The monsoons rolled into the valley the moment we arrived and the emerald green bowl looked fresh and inviting, now glistening with raindrops after a summer shower. As we indulged in freshly brewed cups of the winning lots in this beautiful backdrop, we asked a local chieftain, why were the verdant hills so bare? His answer only reminded us how isolation always comes with a price.

"The British tore down every standing tree here for timber and shipped it to London and around the rest of their empire through the port in Visakhapatnam and I am sure our trees now adorn their palaces," he tells us as he stares at the beautiful but horrific silhouettes of the remnant naked hills against a poignant setting sun. That thought stayed with us as we ate dinner and retired for the night at the APTDC's (Andhra Pradesh Tourism Development Corporation) Haritha Mayuri Hill Resort — one of the only two resorts in Araku, both owned by the government.

The next day was packed with visits to coffee estates, several Adivasi hamlets and a guided tour through the whole coffee-making process from crop to cup, courtesy Araku — a Paris and Bengaluru-based, terroir-mapped coffee brand that champions the Arabica coffee grown in the region and now markets it at great prices worldwide.

Following co-operative practices and organic farming methods, the Araku format of growing coffee not only makes for a great example that can be followed across the country's coffee-growing regions, it also proved that disenfranchised tribal communities can successfully be brought into economic rejuvenation projects (that also mutually benefit them) successfully removing the multiple drawbacks of farmer-middlemen-seller models. The work done by Naandi Foundation has ensured livelihoods, education and employment have all taken turns for the better, and the enthusiastic participation of the farmers from across the region only prove this model works.

We then did the customary visit to the Tribal Museum (right next to the resort), the Padmapuram Gardens (a short walk away), and also made plans for the nearby Borra Caves and Katiki Waterfalls for the next day. What really stayed with us, however, was the one-on-one interactions with the Adivasi farmers, who today, take so much pride in being the new protectors of their once-ravaged, now reviving homeland.

NEIL ARMSTRONG

Neil Armstrong, the first man to walk on the moon said, "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind," as millions watched on television

Ahead of their collaboration with the Nature inFocus Festival 2023, Amit Kilam and Nikhil Rao, members of the band Indian Ocean speak to CE about the role of environmentalism in the band's discography and surviving for 30 years

SEAZING THE DAY

Amit Kilam

TUNIR BISWAS

YOU tend to mimic your namesake if they are very well-known. And for the pioneering rock band Indian Ocean, it shares its name with one of the largest water bodies in the world. And just as the water body makes waves regularly owing to its gravitational bond with the moon, the band has followed suit by making waves in the Indian music industry. They recently made a splash in the city after their announcement of collaborating with the Nature inFocus Festival 2023, to be held at the Jayamahal Palace in Bengaluru between July 28-30. Indian Ocean will find themselves in the Garden City, and the only thing flooding the streets will be their fans.

Amit Kilam, the band's drummer (and singer) who's also leading this collaboration, feels the band members' personal interest in curbing environmental concerns played a big role in the collaboration. "We're looking forward to our collaboration with Nature inFocus because a lot of us have a keen interest in environmental issues. And in photography, particularly! Just the thought of playing for like-minded people, under one roof, is quite exciting," says Kilam, who is also very keen on wildlife photography.

If go through the band's discography, it will become evident that environmentalism has played a key role in it. The band's guitarist Nikhil Rao elaborates on it saying, "It is the role and responsibility of musicians and artistes, to keep reminding all of us that we will probably not be able to live a good human life without the environment. Even framing that sentence sounds so silly, because it's so self-evident. But yes, as a band, we have taken every opportunity to make a song or do anything for any organisation or group of people, who are passionate about the environment and protection of jungles."

The band recently launched their eighth album, Tu Hai. But Indian Ocean has had a tumultuous history, undergoing many moments that can be considered 'band killers'. In December 2009, the band lost its founding member Asheem Chakravarty. Later in 2013, another founding member, Susmit Sen, parted ways with the band. They also ran into trouble with record labels. Despite going through all these problems, how did the band manage to continue thriving?

"There are so many ways to answer that question. Because Himanshu Joshi (singer) is a filmmaker and runs his own company, Amit does 10,000 different things, Rahul Ram (bassist and singer) has his fingers in 12 different pies, and Tuheen Chakravorty (percussionist) teaches and researches in tabla, and I also dabble in various things. That is how Indian Ocean is still surviving. A lot of credit goes to the senior most members, Rahul and Amit, who had a strong desire to keep this going. And of course, the overwhelming factor is luck," explains Rao.

Bengaluru has also played a role in the band's collaboration with Nature inFocus since it is a city, which Kilam believes has been 'very kind to them'. "This city has welcomed us warmly, even with new members joining in and with new music. It has accepted us with open arms, whatever little new directions we were trying to go or take," says Kilam, not before concluding that he shares a personal love for Malleswaram.

Nikhil Rao

GREEN FESTIVAL

The Nature inFocus Festival is coming to the city in a live format after four years. The theme this year is 'The Time for Change'. "The Nature inFocus Festival and Awards is Asia's largest nature and wildlife festival, an annual event where researchers, scientists, conservationists, activists, wildlife photographers, filmmakers and nature enthusiasts from around the country gather under one roof to share their knowledge and experiences. There is no other festival in India or Asia dedicated to the nature and wildlife community. The last on-ground festival happened in Bengaluru in 2019 and saw a crowd of 2,500+ attendees," says Rohit Varma, founder of the festival.

Launched by Ramachandra Guha, this book offers a peek into the Indian subcontinent's history over the last 12,000 years

Root of the matter

EXPRESS FEATURES

Indian culture today is so varied, it needs to be called cultures. The roots go back to ancient times and it has developed through many races and people. Hence, among its ingredients, it is impossible to say surely, what is native and what is alien, what is borrowed out of love and what has been imposed by force. If we view Indian culture thus, we realise there is no place for showmen," said renowned author and historian Ramachandra Guha, quoting polymath and Jnanpith awardee Kota Shivaram Karanth.

Speaking of the book Indians: Histories of a Civilization, during its launch at the Bangalore International Centre in Domlur on July 18, Guha felt the spirit of Karanth's perspective "hangs over the book".

A brainchild of author and literary critic, GN Devy, Indians: Histories of a Civilization is a comprehensive volume that collates the many histories of the Indian subcontinent over the past 12,000 years. Jointly edited by Devy, journalist Tony Joseph and archaeologist & adjunct professor at the National Institute of Advanced Studies, Ravi Korisettar, the book is a culmination of inputs by over 90 historians globally.

"What was worrying in recent years is that a few autonomous institutions such as the Indian Council of Historical Research and a committee constituted by the Ministry of Culture, GOI had initiated steps to 'rewrite' Indian history...History expects a conversation about a society's past, while keeping a safe distance from fantasy and wishful nostalgia. The main objective should be to provide justice to society at large. With these objectives in mind, we embarked on this project," said Prof. Korisettar, about the book's ideation.

According to Guha, the book's generational, disciplinary and international range is unprecedented, at least in the sphere of Indian publishing. "What is truly impressive about this work is the range of themes and contributors. It explores wide sweeping disciplinary themes, from biology, ecology, language, culture, sociology. The contributors are of different generations and from different parts of the world, but all are acknowledged specialists in their respective fields," he added.

While Indians: Histories of a Civilization explores a wide range of themes through its diverse contributors, Prof Korisettar says the chapters of the book are merely a synopsis and hopes to expand on each theme in the future. "We plan to obtain full-length articles, spanning 50-60 pages each and publish them into a series of 30-40 expanded volumes. Our aim is to work consistently over the next decade, closely adhering to the scientific method and with judicious use of recent data and finding, so that we may produce the magnum opus," he added.

COLOUR ME HAPPY

Here are 10 habits to include into your daily routine

DR SUMALATHA KB

Happiness is an important component of our overall well-being, and our daily habits play an important role in promoting and maintaining happiness in our lives. The ten habits listed below can be incorporated into your daily routine to improve your happiness and well-being.

1 Gratitude Practice

Gratitude is a powerful practice that significantly impacts happiness levels. Take a moment each day to reflect on the positive aspects of life. Write them down in a gratitude journal or express them to someone you care about.

2 Mindfulness Meditation

Being in the moment is known as mindfulness. You can increase self-awareness by incorporating meditation. Find a quiet spot, and concentrate on your breathing. Allow your thoughts to pass by without judgement, and pay attention to the present.

3 Physical Exercise

Regular physical activity boosts mood and reduces stress and anxiety by releasing endorphins. Find an exercise routine that you enjoy, such as jogging, yoga, or dancing, and incorporate it into your daily routine.

4 Social Connection

We need meaningful social connections to be happy. Maintain your connections with family, friends, and loved ones. Plan social activities and prioritise spending time with those who bring you joy and positivity.

5 Pursuing Personal Passions

Determine your interests and schedule time for them. Whether it's painting, playing an instrument, or gardening, set aside time each day to pursue your interests and enjoy the joy they bring.

6 Quality Sleep

Sleep is essential for our mood and overall happiness. Establish a regular sleep pattern by sleeping and waking up at the exact same time every day. Create a peaceful sleeping environment by avoiding screens before bedtime and engaging in activities like reading or taking a warm bath.

7 Healthy Diet

Maintain a balanced diet that includes fruits, vegetables, whole grains, and lean proteins. Keep hydrated and limit your intake of processed foods and sugary drinks. Simple dietary changes can have a big impact on your overall happiness and well-being.

8 Practising Self-Care

Self-care is essential for happiness and well-being. Make time for activities that will nourish and rejuvenate your mind, body, and soul. Take a warm bath, read a book, or engage in an enjoyable hobby as a self-care ritual. Prioritising well-being overcomes barriers to self-care, such as guilt or a lack of time.

9 Learning and Growth

Learning and growing on a regular basis contributes to our sense of fulfilment. Read books, take online courses, or engage in intellectual conversations to incorporate learning into your daily routine.

10 Disconnecting from Technology

Excessive use of technology can have a negative impact on our well-being. Set limits and limit screen time to make room for more activities. Engage in non-tech activities such as spending time in nature, practising yoga, or having face-to-face conversations.

The power in pomegranate seeds

LYDIA MANOHAR

POMEGRANATE seeds are well known for their skin benefits and for raising hemoglobin levels. There are many additional advantages to it. Just like the hundreds of granules inside the pomegranate fruit, there are numerous undiscovered advantages. Dr Vinitha Krishnan, the chief clinical dietician, at SRM Institute of Medical Science, Chennai, gives us a thorough breakdown of the pomegranate seed's nutritional benefits.

Nutritional value (per 100g)
Sugar: 14g
Fibre: 7g
Protein: 3g

Health benefits

The entire fruit has magical benefits. The skin, pith, granules, and flowers can be consumed.

- It contains polyphenols that have anti-inflammatory, anti-microbial and antioxidant properties.

Limitations

- Everyone can consume the seeds. It doesn't have any harmful effects.

Pomegranates can be incorporated into a variety of recipes like smoothies, fruit salads, juices, pudding, ice creams and so on.

Pomegranate salad

Director Nithin Krishnamurthy reveals insights into his directorial debut, Hostel Hudugaru Bekagiddare, which is set to release this week

'The grandeur of the big screen was my ultimate destination'

A SHARADHAA

Nithin Krishnamurthy joins the bandwagon of engineers, who have ventured into the captivating realm of cinema. The filmmaker, who is marking his directorial debut with Hostel Hudugaru Bekagiddare, has embarked on an exciting journey alongside his college mate, Prajwal P. Reflecting on his path, Nithin says, "After completing engineering, I realised that the grandeur of the big screen was my ultimate destination." Following their graduation, destiny brought them together with director Pawan Kumar in the film Lucia, where they crossed paths with DOP Aravind Kashyap. Nithin reminisces, "The three of us began our journey as Assistant Directors."

Continuing his account, Nithin reveals, "Prajwal continued to work with Pawan in U-Turn, Aravind started his career as a Director of Photography, and I delved into the realm of the small screen and commercial advertisements. The passion and vision eventually led us to conceive the idea of collaborating and creating our own film," he says.

It was during the lockdown period, the team found themselves exploring new possibilities. "Unfortunately, the budget for our initial script proved to be too high," shares Nithin, adding, "We decided to shift gears and showcase the lives of hostel hudugaru (boys) instead. Within a span of six weeks, we crafted a story that started as a modest budget endeavour but eventually blossomed into a magnificent canvas.

In this conversation with CE, the director enthusiastically shared his experience of bringing this film to life, as he discussed the meticulous casting process, the support received from celebrities, and the camaraderie that defines the captivating hostel life portrayed in the movie.

Excerpts:

What inspired you to make a film specifically focused on hostel life and the experiences of young individuals?

I get inspiration in the constraints and problems that arise in any situation. As a storyteller, I enjoy exploring conflicts and shaping the story around them. Additionally, having personally experienced hostel life, I felt a strong connection to the subject as it held many memorable moments. It was a nostalgic journey reminiscent of a compound filled with 500 people. The aim was to capture the essence of hostel life authentically.

You faced a lot of challenges while directing Hostel Hudugaru Bekkagiddare. How did you overcome them?

Firstly, the film involved night shoots, and during that time, there were intermittent rain interruptions that caused us to pause and resume shooting. Secondly, each scene had a minimum of 200 to a maximum of 500 artists and crew members on set, which led to chaotic but creatively productive situations. The film was not shot chronologically, contributing to the madness while providing an authentic feel.

What was your vision with Hostel Hudugaru..., and do you feel you were able to bring it to life successfully?

Yes, the vision we had was effectively translated from script to screen. The inception, one-liners, and screenplay were crafted by me with improvisation occurring organically on set. Interestingly, the climax was left unwritten, allowing it to develop naturally based on the progression of the subject.

What qualities were you looking for in the actors to portray the characters effectively?

The casting process was a challenging and meticulous task, akin to making a film itself. The selection of actors was based on their behaviour, basic acting skills, and suitability to portray the characters. I also focused on qualities such as voice, personality, and attention to detail. Even the role of the warden was chosen with careful consideration.

Were there any personal experiences or stories that influenced the development of the film's narrative or characters?

I am always researching films and even delve into behind-the-scenes details of advertisements. In fact, just 15 minutes after starting the shoot for Hostel Hudugaru, I contacted at least 100 people on Instagram, seeking their input. My previous work in ads and promos helped me improve my skills in making films. I also feel communication was key, and I felt the importance of taking feedback and being open to it.

Can you share any memorable anecdotes or incidents from the shooting of Hostel Hudugaru Bekkagiddare?

We had the best support from celebrities. It began with Puneeth Rajkumar, and then we had Ramya, who lent her support. She was very kind. With the presence of Rishab Shetty, Pawan Kumar, and Diganth, it was an extensive team, and all of them helped to keep the film abuzz. With Rakshit Shetty presenting the film, it came as the icing on the cake. He agreed to present Hostel Hudugaru after watching it for the first time. He later watched it three times during post-production to ensure if it required any minute corrections.

The film seems to highlight the camaraderie and friendships formed in hostels. How important was it for you to convey this aspect, and what message did you want to send through these relationships?

Throughout the film, there is a strong sense of bromance and brotherhood. Beyond the sets, this film brought together 100 new friends, and we have been on this journey for the last three years. It felt like I was constantly going in and out of college. Each time we returned to the shooting schedule, it felt like going back to class. Honestly, I haven't fully accepted that it's over yet, and I'm yet to crack the pumpkin, which is usually a traditional practice, done by every film team after completing a shooting. I still feel like I can add something until it is shown on the big screen.

What do you hope audiences will take away from Hostel Hudugaru Bekagiddare?

I always want to enjoy the movie-watching experience, and I want the audience to have the same impact when they watch my work. From the story to the characters, whether it is to do with a unique pop culture reference or a style that reflects my personal touch, I made sure the story, dialogues, screenplay, and each scene are as original as possible. The conviction we had about Hostel Hudugaru...' has been realised, and it is all set to be presented on the big screen. The college campus has a global appeal, and people who watch the film will get nostalgic.

A still from the film

Jeevaan Hallikar

Dance choreographer and fitness trainer Jeevaan Hallikar is all set to make his directorial debut with Black Sheep. Billed as a suspense thriller, the film is written by Jeevaan himself. It features Vishal Kiran as the lead and Prashant V Hari as the antagonist. Joining them are Nisha Hegde and Shivangi Davey, who will be playing the female leads.

Director Jeevaan Hallikar recently unveiled a few stills from the film. With the shooting wrapped up, the production, spearheaded by Ashwini Gurucharan, is currently in the post-production stage. Actors Krishna Hebbale, KS Sridhar, Sunder Veena, and Bhajarangi Prasanna are part of the cast, portraying pivotal roles.

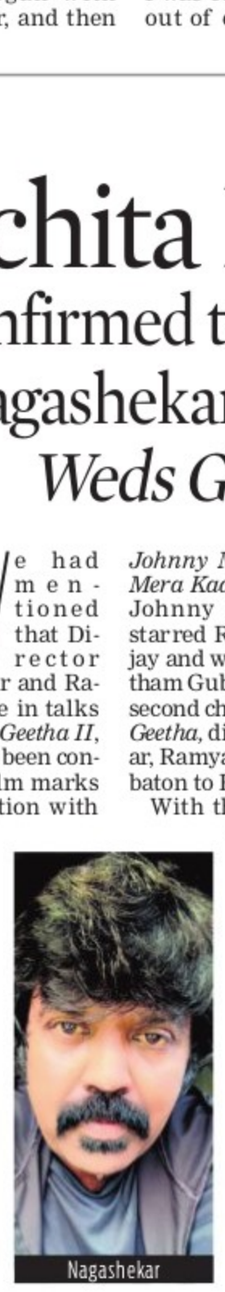
Reflecting on his early journey as a choreographer, Jeevaan says,"Over the years, I have worked on numerous projects, and made special appearances in films such as Hare Rama Hare Krishna and Dev Son of Muddegowda. Before venturing into the world of feature films, I also choreographed television shows and TV commercials, including those featuring Indian cricketers Virat Kohli and Rishabh Pant."

Black Sheep holds a special place in Jeevaan's heart as it is his directorial debut too. The music of the film is composed by the Peepal Tree and the cinematography is handled by Devoo. The makers are planning to release the film by the end of this year or early 2024.

Rachita Ram

Rachita Ram confirmed to star in Nagashekar's Sanju Weds Geetha II

We had mentioned that Director Nagashekar and Rachita Ram are in talks for Sanju Weds Geetha II, and the news has been confirmed now. The film marks her first collaboration with actor Srinagar Kitty. "When I was considering actors for this role, I had three names in mind, and Rachita Ram was certainly one of them," shares Nagashekar in our exclusive conversation. He further added that Rachita's past performances gave him the confidence to cast her for the role. Additionally, after the initial meeting, Rachita got genuinely interested in the script. "Rachita loved her role and has allocated sufficient dates, and has commited herself to the project."



Nagashekar

Interestingly, Ramya featured in the original film, Johnny Mera Naam Preethi Mera Kaam, while its sequel Johnny Johnny Yes Papa starred Rachita opposite Vijay and was directed by Preetham Gubbi. Similarly, in this second chapter of Sanju Weds Geetha, directed by Nagashekar, Ramya will be passing the baton to Rachita.

With the lead actors confirmed, the director plans to officially launch the film on August 15. Nagashekar also discloses that he is planning to approach Prakash Raj and Ramya Krishnan to play prominent roles and expresses his keen interest in bringing Tamannaah Bhatia on board for a special appearance.

"I have previously worked with Tamannaah in my Telugu debut, Gurunda Seetakalam and I hope to have her be a part of Sanju Weds Geetha II. I will soon reach out to her," he states.

The film has cinematography by Sridhar Sambhram and music by Satya Hegde.

Here is Prabhas' look from Project K

The first look poster of actor Prabhas, from the upcoming big-budget and much-anticipated film Project K, was released by the makers on social media on Wednesday. While the team had recently released Deepika Padukone's look, the makers will be unveiling the first glimpse of Project K at San Diego Comic Con.

In the poster, Prabhas sports long locks as he is wearing a metallic suit, suggesting a backdrop futuristic dystopian times. The actor looks straight into the camera, as the backdrop suggests an apocalyptic scenario.

Project K is the tentative title of the film. Directed by Nag Ashwin, the film is backed by Vyjayanthi Movies. Besides Prabhas and Deepike Padukone, the film also features a star cast including Amitabh Bachchan, Disha Patani, and Kamal Haasan in a cameo appearance.

Expected to be a film exploring the concepts of dystopia and futuristic times, Project K is speculated to be a film based on the tenth avatar of Hindu deity Vishnu, Kalki.
